'Holiday mood' aboard

Evacuation ship steams to Athens

ABOARD USS SPIEGEL GROVE - The Spiegel Grove and its cargo of 267 American and other refugees from the Lebanese civil war steamed toward Athens today.

A holiday mood took hold soon after the 110 Americans and 157 evacuees of other nationalities climbed aboard the 510-foot LSD (landing ship dock) in the Mediterranean off Beirut on Sunday.

After a choppy, 25-minute ride from the beach in a landing craft, the refugees were served cold drinks and oatmeal cookies. The children found a play area penned off by cargo nets on deck. Adults peered through telescopes at their escort ships, talked with the sailors or sunned themselves as the 36hour voyage to Athens began.

of Jimmy Carter have shown they are uninterested in pushing major structural changes within the Democratic party during the Democratic national convention in New York next month.

Carter forces were in firm control as the party's rules committee defeated nearly every proposal for substantial change considered in two days of weekend meetings. The committee sets the agenda for the convention and recommends changes in procedure.

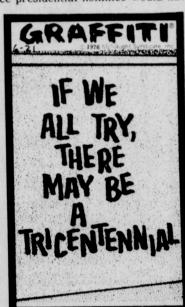

Among the unsuccessful proposals were moves to establish a system for selecting a vice president and for requiring that women constitute 50 per cent of convention delegates.

Meanwhile, Ronald Reagan cut President Ford's delegate lead by 17 and predicted a first ballot victory at the GOP national convention. The Associated Press tally shows Ford with 1,005 delegates pledged to him after weekend delegate selection in five states. Reagan had 932.

There are 157 delegates remaining to be chosen and 164 in the uncommitted category. To win, a candidate needs

> suggested by a presidential candidate

But one Carter strategist said the former Georgia governor did not want to have his hands tied on vice presidential selection if he should win this November and then run again in 1980. So the proposal was defeated in a voice vote by the rules committee.

Another unsuccessful proposed change came from the Democratic Women's Caucus which urged that starting in 1980 half of the delegates to the national convention be women.

Supporters insisted that the 50-50 proposed split did not constitute a quota like those which existed at the 1972 convention and caused deep divisions within the party.

Carter delegates and supporters prepared a substitute offered by former New York Gov. Averill Harriman that called for state Democratic organizations to "promote" numbers of male and female delegates, but dropped any rule for enforcement of any proportions.

At the other end of the long chain of command was Chief Bosun's Mate Glen R. Kennedy, 46, of Rhinelander, Wis., guiding the small landing craft to the Beirut dock to pick up the Spiegel Grove's passengers. They included two dogs, a cat and a parakeet. White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford stayed up until after the evacuees were safely aboard the LSD at 5:12 a.m. EDT "to be ready to make whatever decision would have to be made if it did not go as smoothly as it

Growing East-West trade "presents hopeful prospects, both economic and political, if approached with understanding, skill and foresight," Kissinger said.

However, the unified approach to East-West trade he proposed is a sensitive subject since it would tend to enhance the role of the United States at the expense of other nations whose trade with the Soviet Union is more advantageous. Together, the Common market and Japan hold some $11 billion in credits to the Soviet Bloc, while the United States has only about $400 million.

Two of the square riggers were forced to quit the race and two sailors reportedly suffered minor injuries Sunday in the initial stage of the race by the 18 tall ships and some 12 smaller vessels.

The Providence (R.I.) Journal, which had two reporters covering the race, said the collisions occurred because many of the ships along the 11/4-mile starting line were trying to get as close as possible to the windward

Social Security recipients find smaller checks

WASHINGTON (AP) - Millions of Social Security recipients will soon find their benefit checks a little smaller as the cost of Medicare insurance rises by 50 cents a month.

The government is raising the monthly premium for Medicare's "Part B" coverage to $7.20 from $6.70 starting July 1. Some 24.6 million elderly and disabled Americans are covered under Part B, which pays doctors' bills and other out-of-hospital medical costs.

The government deducts the Medicare premium automatically from the monthly checks of many persons drawing Social Security. Medicaid agencies pay the premiums for more than 3 million persons, and the government bills others quarterly. A legislative quirk prevented the government from raising premiums since July 1, 1974.

Rioting continues in South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Rioting erupted today in black townships outside Pretoria, the South African capital, and police said at least two blacks were shot to death.

Stone throwing and other unrest was reported at schools in some of the smaller black ghettos near Johannesburg, but life was returning to normal in the bigger townships that were the battlegrounds last week for the worst racial violence in South African history.

The government in its first comprehensive report of casualties and damage in the rioting last week said at least 128 persons were killed, 1,112 were injured, 143 vehicles and 139 buildings were burned or damaged.

The commissioner of police, Gen. Gert Prinsloo, said white casualties were two dead and six injured.

"It has definitely been established that 41 blacks were killed and 75 injured a a result of police action," the general added, explaining that investigations were continuing to determine who was responsible for as-yetunclassified casualties.

Meanwhile, the police reported trouble in three townships around

They said four buses and a bus company office were set afire at Mabopane, about 21 miles northwest of the city, in an apparent protest over recent fare increases. The area was being cordoned off by police, who confirmed at least two blacks were shot dead. Several school youths were injured when police fired on blacks looting a liquor store.

A police commander in North Pretoria said buildings at Hammanskraal, north of the city, and the bus terminal at Hebron, west of the city, were set on fire Sunday night. Trouble also was reported at schools and other centers in Mamelodi, another large Pretoria township.

The township of Soweto, the central battleground in the three-day upheaval, appeared peaceful but damage from three days of rioting there was substantial.

The rioting began when police broke up a demonstration by 10,000 students protesting being taught in Afrikaans, the language derived from the Dutch which is used only by the South African Boer whites. The riots expanded into a general uprising against the white government's apartheid policy of racial separation and repression, and thugs and other lawless elements joined in.

Congressmen to get substantial pensions

resentatives and senators leaving Congress at the end of this year will take some substantial financial consolations with them into retirement in the form of pensions ranging in most cases from around $11,000 to more than $51,000.

The top retirement pay under the congressional formula would go to House Speaker Carl Albert, who draws the highest current salary of any of the retirees, $65,600, and has enough combined congressional and military service to put him in the maximum percentage bracket for pension determination.

Sens. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa., can expect annual retirement pay of more than $40,000. Their current pay as majority and minority leaders, respectively, is $52,000.

At the other end of the scale is a group of members retiring after 10 years of service, indicating a pension of about $10,800.

unofficial. It is impossible now to Madden, D-Ind. calculate exactly what a member will receive because Congress may get another pay raise before the year is over.

Members contribute 8 per cent of their salary to the retirement fund and the government puts in a contribution that makes up the difference. Members' pensions are based on length of service and on the average salary in their three highest-paid years.

For each year of service, a member receives 2.5 per cent of the high-three years may be added to congressional service. Under somewhat different formulas, government service other than in Congress also may be counted

The maximum pension, regardless of length of service, is 80 per cent of the three-year average. Thus a member reaches the limit with 32 years of service.

Congressional pay last year was tied to the cost-of-living adjustment formula applicable to federal workers generally. Congress got a 5 per cent increase last October. The unofficial computations assume another 5 per cent increase this year.

For a member drawing no special pay because of a leadership post, the indicated maximum pension would be about $34,800, based on current pay of $44,600 and this year's assumed pay increase.

Five retirees meet the maximum service requirement: Reps. Robert E. Jones, D-Ala.; Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa.; Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark.; F. Ed-All these pension computations are ward Hebert, D-La.; and Ray J.

Other long-term retirees and their estimated pensions include: Rep. Phil M. Landrum, D-Ga., 24 years, $26,000; Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., 27 years, $29,000; Rep. John Jarman, R-Okla., 26 years, $28,000; Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., 24 years, $26,000.

So far, 29 House members have announced retirement or lost primaries. Eight senators have said they will retire. Eighteen other House members are leaving that body to run for the Senate, so they have a chance to average. Military service up to five continue congressional service.

Carter's hometown attracts tourists

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — While Jimmy Carter ponders his presidential prospects, his presence in this tiny southwest Georgia town, population 683, shows signs of spawning a tourist industry.

Carter attended services Sunday at Plains Baptist Church, taught a mens' Sunday school class and then went home to work on his choice of a Democratic running mate.

But as he worked visitors were flocking to the village for a glimpse of its most famous son. More than a dozen persons awaited the former Georgia governor and Plains peanut farmer outside the church.

By Plains standards, the tourists were swarming. Last weekend, said Maxine Reese, 200 to 300 persons visited the old railroad depot in the center of town that serves as Carter's welcome center.

Billy Wise, a school classmate of Carter, said he has never known stores in Plains to open on Sunday.

Many visitors brought cameras and one couple asked two reporters to pose for a snapshot.

The surge in interest in Carter's hometown has some of the townspeople worried. A group of local businessmen planned to visit Johnson City, Tex., soon to see what happened to Lyndon Johnson's home town after he became president.

Some entrepreneurs in the state already have tried to capitalize on Carter's fame, offering to sell onesquare-inch plots of peanut growing land in his home town, a scheme Carter quickly denounced.

Chamber of Commerce President Jimmy Grubbs said some growth is probably desirable in the Plains area, but he added, "We just want to make sure it's planned and orderly growth."

Robert Buzinski, a regional director of the Republican National Committee, met privately with McCoy late last week while McCoy was attending a state candidates' seminar. He said McCoy is scheduled to attend a congressional cándidates' seminar in Washington this week

"I'd be untruthful if I told you we were not reassessing our situation," Buzinski said. "We will be constantly monitoring the situation there."

"But this is not something new, or something just for Ralph McCoy," he said. "We will make an attempt to help any Republican candidate. We're treating him just as we would any other candidate.

Buzinski said the national support will include money, but that he does not know how much. He noted that the amount is limited by law. McCoy said despite Hays' primary victory, the June election showed many in the district are disenchanted with the veteran congressman. McCoy noted that Hays' victory fell well short of his usual 4-1 margin. "There's a lot of protest vote within the Democratic party," he said. "I'm going to work on that.

McCoy said his campaign will not be aimed at Hays' personal life, but on his voting record as a congressman, primarily in fiscal matters. He said there will be "no attacks on Hays as an individual.

But that could be affected by the investigation into allegations that Hays used public funds to pay for sexual favors. "If that proves to be justified, then that will be an issue," McCoy said.

Independent candidate Crabbe maintains that McCoy remains a minor candidate, despite party backing. "I don't look at him as a strong

"Hays is the man to beat. There is no question in my mind that he will run,' Crabbe said, adding that, "I expect to McCoy said his principle issue is the federal budget.

"The majority of the American people want the federal budget reduced as their tax burden can be eased," McCoy said. "They also are building more and more resentment towards the federal bureaucracy and the regulations that are being imposed upon us.

"I intend to take a stand against the encroachment of big brother from the banks of the Potomac River.

'During the tenure of the incumbent (Hays), government regulations have become a tidal wave. We need to remove the politicians from power and replace them with public servants,' McCoy said.

McCoy proposed what is in effect a 'sunset law," requiring government agencies to justify their budgets.

'I know a lot of federal agencies will shrink in size or go out of business entirely when they have to justify their value to the taxpayers," McCoy said.

McCoy also said he favors a balanced federal budget, "the same way most citizens and families in these United States balance their budgets. If you do not have the income to pay the bill, you put off the purchase.'

McCoy is an engineer with the Ormet Corp., an aluminum reduction firm. He is married and has two daughters in high school.

Stock market changes little

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market showed little change today, still struggling against the profit taking that showed up in Friday's session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials hovered around Friday's closing level in early activity today. Gainers took a slight lead over losers in the over-all count of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers said the market seemed to be balanced between encouragement over the outlook for interest rates and the economic recovery and doubts about whether the Dow was ready to push past its previous closing high for the year of 1,011.02.

Today's prices included Xerox, up 1/8 at 591/2; Atlantic Richfield, down 1/2 at 1011/2; Citicorp, off 3/8 at 37, and Dow Chemical, up 1/8 at 513/8.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average slipped 1.39 to 1,001.80, failing to hold an early 6-point gain.

But advances held on for an 8-5 edge over declines among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index rose .12 to 55.29.

Big Board volume came to 25.72 million shares. At the American Stock Exchange, the #### market value index was up .55 at 104.89. Spacecraft looking for smooth spot

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) - Viking 1, which has completed its first sweep around Mars, was scheduled to have its orbit narrowed today so the spacecraft can probe its scheduled July 4 landing site for potential hazards.

Earth-bound controllers prepared to fire Viking 1's onboard engines at 1:43 p.m. EDT and whittle its orbit from a 42.3-hour path around the planet to one corresponding to the number of hours in a Martian day - 24 hours and 37 minutes

The spacecraft was made ready to fire its rocket engine on reaching a point 940 miles above the site where its robot laboratory lander will set down on America's birthday.

At about 2 p.m. EDT Tuesday, Viking will begin a photographic session that will last until landing day. Using stereo cameras that produce three-di-mensional images, the spacecraft will scan the ancient valley for any hazards that could damage the lab when it descends to the surface.

The predetermined site is thought to be smooth and gently rolling.

The craft also will be using infrared equipment to check for temperature differences across the Martian surface and water content in its atmosphere. In its new elliptical orbit, Viking's distance from the planet will vary from 930 miles to 20,000 miles.

Viking 1, which has a companion ship following 10 million miles behind, arrived near Mars on Saturday, fired a 38-minute braking burst and swung into orbit. Mission officials at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory here said the maneuver was precise, "as if it had been following a textbook."

"After eight years, we're finally in orbit," said Jim Martin, manager of the Viking project that officially began

Mission director Tom Young noted that the flawless orbit maneuver following a 440-million-mile trip from earth was a "significant feat," but only a first step in Viking's search for life on

County Demos name officers

Fayette County Democrats have selected new officers for the executive and central committees

Richard P. Kimmet, 526 Rawlings St., a member of the Fayette County Board of Elections, was chosen to succeed Leo Edwards, assistant general manager of the Armco Steel Corp. Washington C.H. plant, as chairman of the executive committee.

Other officers of the Democratic Executive Committee will be named within 30 days.

Mrs. Peg Langen, 415 E. Temple St., succeeded her husband Gene as chairman of the central committee. Mr. Langen, who decided not to seek reelection to the central committee this year, was no longer eligible.

Mrs. Langen, who was unopposed for her position as Precinct 1-A representative, is deputy director of the board of elections.

The only other office in the central committee is that of the secretary treasurer. D. Jane Ferneau, who won a contested race in Union West precinct, was named to the post.

The radioman first class was visiting in Dixon's Rathskeller tavern in New Holland, when he decided to buy an instant lottery ticket. An instant later, Wood was $1,000 richer!

Saying that he "set up the house" when he saw that he'd won, Wood, who is returning to Georgia today, added that he had to take the ticket to Columbus in order to collect, which he did immediately. Now that he is retired from the U.S. Navy, Wood said that he was going to loaf a lot and do some water skiing, but doesn't have any definite plans for the recently acquired $1,000. When asked what he was doing while vacationing in New Holland, Wood's brother answered for him by saying, "Winning all of our money so he can take it back to Georgia!"

Brazilian connection provides evidence in Kennedy probe

intelligence committee has pieced together a Brazilian connection that informed sources say provides further circumstantial evidence that Cuba's Fidel Castro knew about a CIA plot against his life. These sources noted that the CIA plot continued despite Castro's apparent knowledge of it and that this adds weight to the never-proven theory that the Cuban dictator had a motive to order the assassination of President John F. Kennedy

In September 1963, a Cuban CIA operative, code-named "AM-LASH," contacted a U.S. intelligence agent in Brazil where they discussed assassinating Castro, the sources say.

Two days later, Castro chose the Brazilian embassy in Havana as the site for an impromptu news conference at which he publicly warned that "U.S. leaders should think that if they are aiding terrorist plans to eliminate Cuban leaders, they themselves will not be safe.'

"The fact that Castro chose the Brazilian embassy as the site to make his remarks was taken (by the committee) as an indication that he knew" about the CIA plot, one source close to the committee said.

'If you were dealing with a clod, you might dismiss it," this source added, 'but Castro was a bright fellow who liked nuance.'

The sources said that the Brazilian connection should have triggered

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate alarms within the CIA that the undercover agent, a highly placed official in the Cuban government, was a double agent keeping Castro informed of every development in the assassination plot Instead, tha plot continued, with CIA officers secretly meeting AM-LASH in various parts of the world through October and November 1963.

At a meeting in October, a CIA officer named Desmond Fitzgerald identified himself as the personal representative of the President's brother, thenAtty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The final meeting between AM-LASH and Fitzgerald, at which the CIA officer delivered an assassination device, occurred on Nov. 22, the day Kennedy was killed in Dallas.

Sources said the continued existence of the plot in the face of strong signals sent by Castro, along with Fitzgerald's claim to AM-LASH that he was representing the President's brother, could have formed the motive for the Kennedy assassination. However, these sources stressed that there is no hard evidence linking Castro to Kennedy's death.

Castro recently denied any connection with the assassination.

One source said that not all the members of the nowdefunct intelligence comittee support the theory that Castro was behind Kennedy's

Federal printing facelift

The Congressional Record is a Dullsville, message from typographically speaking. Though this daily compendium of House and Senate floor proceedings contains much of importance (along with a lot of rhetorical flatulence) its grey columns are unrelieved by any attempt to improve their readability

Perhaps this is of no great consequence, since only a handful of Americans ever see the Record. This cannot be said, however, of an array of government booklets, manuals, forms and other publications intended for public consumption. Their customary drabness makes most of them an offense to the eye.

Happily, a drive is under way to get federal agencies to improve the appearance of their publications and make them more readable. This is being done through a project sponsored pleasant spinoff of the undertaking is a reduction in printing costs, which results from standardized design. This is just one of the benefits which argue for continuing this effort throughout the whole federal establishment.

Endowment for the Arts - "an effort," in the words of NEA Chairman Nancy Hanks, "to improve com-munication between government and people

Related to this is the insistence that the grain be shipped in American bottoms, adding greatly to the price and a reason for a Russian hold-back. The power of the maritime unions in connection hardly endears unionism to the prairie states.

The farm states were a crucial factor in Harry Truman's astonishing upset victory in 1948. He came down hard for 100 per cent of parity for principal farm crops while his Republican opponent, Thomas E. Dewey, stood on 80 per cent. This was in itself almost enough to insure an electoral harvest in the farm

Any resemblance between 1948 and 1976 stops here. This time there is not merely confidence of victory in November but, as some Democrats fear, overconfiednce which could (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
No outstandingly impressive opportunities indicated, yet there are hidden gems of value which you may result in a relaxation of effort with fatal results

National Democratic Chairman Robert Strauss has in three and a half years done an extraordinary job of pulling together the warring factions of the party left in the aftermath of the shambles of 1972. It was not one party but two or three parties. Traveling in 30 states and working with Democratic officeholders from governor on down, he has put together a united front prepared to work for a moderate center candidate.

At the same time, however, Strauss is trying to examine as objectively as possible the outlook for the big contest. He shares the feeling that Ronald Reagan might be a more formidable opponent than President Ford. If Reagan should pick John Connally as his Vice President, his chances of carrying Texas, where he won a big primary victory, would be greatly enhanced.

Then carrying California, his home state, with the rest of the West, where he is strong, and with a good chance in conservative Florida, Reagan could win. This is the sober arithmetic troubling those who fear overconfidence. This same arithmetic may well enter into the calculations of the delegates to the Republican convention

With the advantage of a candidate virtually certain a month in advance of the convention, and with a platform that with a few exceptions conforms to Carter's views, a campaign is being geared up to enlist all elements of the party presidential ambitions, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey is expected to around the country addressing himself in particular to organized labor where he has his greatest strength.

Regardless of whether the opponent is Reagan or Ford, California is a question mark. Gov. Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown continued his campaign long after the Carter bandwagon had taken on board virtually all of the other primary opposition. But if Ford cannot carry his own state for the national ticket - or if he does not make an all-out effort - his own political future will not look promising. As for the South, regional pride plus the prospect of a united party should go a long way. Gov. George Wallace,, in his dignified speech calling on his delegates to vote for Carter just after the Ohio primary, surely did a lot to restore Alabama to the Democratic column. Georgia, with some con-spicuous holdouts, is bursting with pride over the native son, the peanut farmer from Plains. Momentum, a word that kept cropping up in Carter's primary campaign, could mean a lot in a region so long turned off from the Democratic party

As that ancient political adage goes, you pays your money and you takes your choice. Money is not likely to be a problem in either party this time. There will be a lot of double givers. That is to say, those who split their contributions, wanting to make sure that, whoever the man to occupy the White House for the coming four years, he will have at least a pledge of their good intentions. This time, if the campaign financing law can be circumvented without the consequences visited out of 1972 on so many corporations, it will be more than ever a

Speciality steel import restrainst take effect

CLEVELAND (AP) -Import restraints on five specialty steel products went into effect last week as a result of the Ford administration's aid plan, Industry Week magazine said.

The products that are effected by the quota include stainless strip, plate, bar, and rod; and alloy tool steel.

The magazine reported that the specific terms of the agreement are as follows: Specialty steel imports cannot exceed 147,000 tons in the first year, 151,000 in the second year and 155,900 in the third year of the quotas.

All these maximums are well below the annual rate of imports of 168,900 tons recorded for the first four months of this year, according to the publica-

Japan, as expected, was the only major steel-producing nation to agree to a bilateral pact limiting exports to the U.S. during the next three years, according to the magazine.

Sweden joined Canada and the nine European Community (EC) nations on the receiving end of unilateral U.S.

The magazine said that should the nations decide to retaliate, they could have a potential whipping post, because U.S. exports of carbon steel are now burgeoning after a lag of many Abused children:

call agency for help

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for that 14-year-old girl whose father molested her: I hope you will take Abby's advice and tell your mother. If not, call the police whose job it is to protect young people with problems like yours. Or, look for "Children's Services" in your telephone book. If you can't fing it, dial "O" and ask your operator to belo you. And if there is operator to help you. And if there is a hotline or a crisis center service in your area, call them.

When I was a newspaper reporter a few years ago, I intereviewed the Children's Services people and found them to be some of the nicest people I had ever met. If you just can't tell your mother, ask the Children's Services people to tell her for you. Their job is to see that children are helped out of

Your problem is more common than you realize. Don't worry about what the Children's Services people will think. They have heard it all before. Please don't keep this secret locked up inside

DEAR ABBY: Ten lashes with a wet typewriter ribbon for advising that young girl who had been molested by her father to tell her mother. Not all mothers are sympathetic. Some are afraid of their husbands. Others don't want to rock the boat by facing reality. The girl may be better off bypassing her mother and going directly to an

The Children's Protective Services are the people to call. Please let children know this.

PHYLLIS IN CONCORD, N.H.
DEAR PHYLLIS: You are right. About 10 years ago, a 16-year-old St. Paul girl who was in the same predicament wrote seeking my help. I checked our her story and learned it was true. I then enlisted the help of a State Supreme Court justice in an effort to rescue the girl and deal with her father appropiately.

Incredible as it may seem, the girl's mother refused to press charges against her husband, saying, "If he's put away, there goes the family's paycheck." The daughter also refused to testify against her father, so we were stymied.

Children who are sexually molested by an adult should call the Children's Protective Service, if the community has one. Otherwise, tell a trusted adult friend, teacher, relative or neighbor. Or call the police.

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column,

you pointed out that honesty is he best policy. I agree, but in his "Ethics from Sinai," Irving M. Bunim reprimands us for equating honesty with a policy. He

"Consider the maxim, 'honesty is the best policy.' How dare we reduce honesty to a 'policy'! A policy has its place in business. It may be a policy to extend credit for 30 or 60 days, or to receive salesmen only at certain times during the week. But an ethical obligation cannot simply be 'a policy. Honesty is a value built into the structure of existence itself."

ARTHUR IN MEMPHIS DEAR ARTHUR: I'm with Irving.

Today In History

By The Associated Press Today is Monday, June 21st, the 173rd day of 1976. There are 193 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1788, the United States Constitution went into effect as New Hampshire became the ninth state to ratify it. On this date In 1834, the American inventor, Cyrus McCormick, was granted a patent on his reaping machine.

In 1898, the first U.S. troops landed in Cuba in the SpanishAmerican War. In 1919, part of a German fleet interned at Scapa Flow in Scotland was scuttled by the German crewmen. In 1942, in World War II, 30,-000 British soldiers were taken prisoner as the stronghold of Tobruk in Libya fell to the Germans. In 1945, Japanese forces on the island of Okinawa surrendered to the Americans. In 1963, the Roman Catholic Arch-bishop of Milan, Italy was elected

Pope. He took the name of Paul VI. Ten years ago: Shots were ex-

Marriage in Center Church announced to friends here

Mrs. June Anders of Milledgeville, and Mr. John R. Summers of Milledgeville, exchanged marriage vows June 4 in the Center United Methodist Church. Twin seven-branch candelabra with peach and white bows, and a large center bouquet of white carnations, peach and white gladioli and blue and white daisies enhanced the altar. Mrs. Danny Young presented a prelude of organ music, and sang "Whither Thou Goest."

The bride wore a floor-length gown of sheer voile beige with woven lace pattern, with panels of lavender, blue and peach flowers, with a matching short cape which tied in front in a bow. She caried a bouquet of peach rosebuds, white carnations, and large blue and white daisies, with baby's breath, tied with peach and white

Camp Pine was the site for the May Paint Creek Valley Spring Camporee. A total of nine events were held including the 440 yard relay; 50 yard dash, log sawing; archery, ski and shoot; bike race; knot tying; obstacle course; canoe race; first aid, and compass reading.

One hundred and fifteen scouts and 29 adult scouters were in attendance from nine troops: Troops 171 and 226 from Hillsboro; Troops 190 and 440 from Greenfield; Troops 229 and 112 from Washington C.H., Troops 225 from Leesburg; Troop 67 from Jef-fersonville, and Troop 323 a new organization from Washington C.H. All impeted in the events except Troop

A surprise visit came when Paivi Taina, Finland, a guest of Mrs. Ronda Ludwick, arrived at the site and enjoyed the camporee. When asked what she liked the best, Paivi replied, "I like the scout food very much." Taina is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Gotheman of Hillsboro.

John Young was in charge of the campfire held on Saturday night and he presented ribbons to the various troops who had won the events. The scouts put on skits and commercials to add humor to the campfire. At the closing Rick Ludwick conducted the tap and ceremonies for the Order of the Arron.

A cracker barrel was held for the scouts and their parents, who attended the campfire. It was furnished by Mrs. Kathy Cowdry and Mr. John Rhoads. Sunday morning a non-denominational church service was held after which the scouts were dismissed and left for

RUSTLERS

The Triple-R-Rustlers 4-H Club held an all day practice and bake sale recently. All members, but one, attended the bake sale, which began at 9 a.m. and ended at 11 a.m., and the practice, which started at 3 p.m. and lasted until 6 p.m. The members then gathered for a cook out at the home of their advisor, Gerry Greene. The next meeting of the club is set for 7 p.m.,

PEPPY FARMERS

Paula McClure opened the meeting of the Perry Peggy Farmers 4-H Club and Mike Wehner led the pledges. The minutes of the last meeting were read and the treasurer's report was given. Charles Wehner gave the safety report and Anna Wehner gave a health report. The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served.

Miss Trimmer, Mr. Tuttle exchange marriage vows

Miss Pamela Sue Trimmer, daughter of Mrs. Ted Bowman of Columbus and Newt Trimmer of California, became the bride of Billy Ray Tuttle, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Tuttle of 2870 Rt. 753 SE, Washington C.H.

The Rev. Wilbur Bullock, minister of the McNair Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. Alton Meyers assisted for the double-ring candlelight ceremony in the Bloomingburg Presbyterian Church at 7 p.m. June 5. Altar flowers were arrangements of yellow and white

Given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. Bowman, the bride wore a bridal gown fashioned of sheery nylon lined with acetate taffeta, lavishly trimmed with ruffled nylon and acetate. The gown was trimmed with Chantilly lace and iridescent sequins, at the scoop neckline, and apron-style front. Wide lace inserts were at the front and side of the skirt. The long full sleeves ended in cuffs. The headpiece framed her face held with a camelot style cap with shirred band. Sequins trimmed the cap which held the three-tier nylon tulle veil. A full-length chapel length train was flowing. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and white daisies, with baby's breath.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Patty Strickland of Cleveland, who wore a long yellow formal length gown, and carried a bouquet of spring flowers.

Country Cousins' began their 4th meeting at the Sheriff's Office where Deputy John Hyer gave them a tour. He pegan by finger printing one of the girls and leading the group to the Juvenile Detention Cell where they were 'locked in". He also demonstrated the many communications systems.

Club Advisors Mrs. Lange and Mrs. Cunningham gave an informal tour of the Court House where we saw pictures of the Big Cyclone and viewed the Willard Murals. It is interesting that the artist signed his paintings by addressing an envelope to himself.

The Fayette County Muesum was the next stop where Mrs. Margeurite Jenkins and Mr. Kenneth Craig answered questions and told interesting facts about the antiques. The members really liked the golden staircase to the

The day was ended with sack lunches and a swim party at Cedarhurst. Nancy Rapp provided refreshments. Mrs. Lange reminded the members that the next meeting would be at her home at 10:00 June 29 where the members will meet to go to Deer Creek for a trash Clean-Up and Picnic to end with a Swim at Kim Chakeres. She said that Fair Projects must be close to completion at that time. Mrs. Cunningham reminded the girls to get the Stationery money to her as soon as possible. Important dates to remember are the Nutrition Clinic, The Mothers' Tea at Mrs. Lange's on July 13 and the Fair Prejudging, July 16. Cynthia Cunningham, reporter

BOY SCOUTS Boy Scout Troop 323, of the South Side Church of Christ, met on Monday at 7:30 p.m. The meeting was opened with the Pledge of Allegiance, the Boy Scout Oath and laws. The troop discussed the care and safety of knives. A discussion was held on the possibility of marching in the Fourth of July parade and a recreational period of table tennis followed. The scout master read his minutes and the meeting was closed with the scout master's prayer.

Brian Hottinger, scribe

BAR-J-WRANGLES At the last meeting of the Bar-J-Wranglers 4-H Club, Angie Huffman led the pledges. The roll call was responsed to by naming your favorite class at a horse show. COLUMBUS — Bringing tourist dollars to central Ohio is the goal of the newly-organized Central Ohio Tourist Council Leatherlips Region, which will work with the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development's Office of Travel and Tourism to publicize attractions in the eight-

The Leatherlips Region designates one of nine multi-county groupings in a new regional approach to tourism promotion in Ohio. It encompasses Union, Madison, Fayette, Pickaway, Franklin, Deleware, Licking and Fairfield counties.

Susan Edwards, public relations director of the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts and chairman of the council, has announced appointment of three sales representatives. They are John Feenstra of Marysville, Don Moffat of Columbus and Sharon Nichols of Athens. They will contract major attractions and businesses that benefit from tourism. Feenstra is a retired newspaper circulation manager, Moffat, a high school English teacher and former radio ombudsman, and Ms Nichols a boutique and beauty salon owner. #### Berea woman named to head Carter bloc

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - A Berea woman who first met Jimmy Carter in 1974 has been elected to head Carter's Ohio delegation, a position which almost assures her the position of heading the entire Ohio delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

Christine Gitlin, a former Berea city councilwoman and an assistant to Rep. Ronald Mottl, D-Ohio, was elected at an organizational meeting of Carter delegates Saturday Since 126 of Ohio's 152 delegates are pledged to Carter, her election almost assures she will head the entire delegation. The rest of the Carter delegation pledged to support her at the period and the presidential nomination. The 126 Ohio delegates represent the largest single delegation pledged to the former governor.

WASHINGTON REPORT

6th District, Ohio

The 94th Congress is painfully consistent where raising the ceiling on the national debt is concerned. It is the kind of consistency that is edging this nation toward bankruptcy

This week's House vote to increase the temporary debt ceiling marked the fifth time in less than a year and a half that this Congress has raised the limit. If one can find any reason for optimism in the House action, which I opposed, it might be that the 184-177 vote was fairly close on the matter.

The legislation approved would increase the temporary debt ceiling from $627 billion to $700 billion over the next 15 months. That means the Federal Government will be able to borrow an additional $73 billion through September of 1977.

Some congressional spenders contend that the debt ceiling should be accelerate economic raised to recovery. However, that is a shortsighted contention, because taken to its logical and predictable conclusion, deficit spending and jacking up the public debt will damage, if not destroy the recovery process.

The increase, if finally approved by the Senate and signed into law by the President, will allow the Federal Government to go once again into the private marketplace and borrow funds that would have otherwise been used for economic growth in the private sector. Those funds are needed for capital expansion and the creation of permanent and satisfying jobs for the nation's unemployed.

When private industry cannot get the money it needs to grow and expand, job opportunities evaporate, money gets tight, interest rates go up, and inflation grips the economy.

The trend has been to increase the debt ceiling since 1960, but the rate of increase has been accelerating in the last few years. For example, at the end of Fiscal Year 1960, the national debt was not quite $297 billion, less than half of what it is today.

It is easy to see that far too many members of the Ninety-fourth Congress are giving lip-service to reduced spending, when one considers that although it took 194 years to amass an accumulated debt of around $400 billion, this Congress alone proposes to add over $200 billion to that debt.

This kind of government activity hits American taxpayer hard. Occasionally, I hear someone say, 'Why worry about the size of the national debt-after all, we owe it to ourselves.

Such an observation overlooks the fact that the phenomenal amount of interest to be paid on the debt of the Federal Government-and it must be paid-comes from taxes and from additional borrowing.

Given the obviously damaging effect on the economy produced by government borrowing, consider, if you will, the problem of taxes.

This year, government at all levels will take more than 42 per cent of total personal income in the United States.

Over 42 cents out of every dollar will go to government through income taxes, sales taxes, real estate taxes, gas taxes, and the like.

Feeding on a steady diet of tax dollars, government at all levels is simply growing bigger and hungrier by the day. Congress has yet to do anything to curb that appetite.

The cost of living is inescapably related to the inflation produced by the kind of uncontrolled deficit spending and borrowing that is made possible through the overworked congressional gimmick of raising the temporary ceiling on the public debt

In response to a questionnaire I recently mailed to my Sixth District constituents, 84 per cent said they favored a reduction in federal spending, even if it might decrease programs personally favored.

People are saying the same thing all across the nation. As we mark 200 years of representative government, it is time that more members of Congress

URW slated to resume strike talks

CLEVELAND (AP)-Striking United Rubber Workers are scheduled to resume their talks with Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. in Cleveland Monday at 2 p.m., in the ongoing effort to end the 64-day-old dispute.

The union hopes a settlement with Firestone will pave the way for reconciliation with the other members of the Big Four of the rubber industry-Goodrich, Goodyear, and Uniroyal.

The two main issues that remain unresolved are wage demands and an unlimited cost-of-living increase.

As a result of the strike, many nontire workers for the Big Four are being laid off. The four companies said Friday that 3,650 nonstriking employes will be laid off in textile and synthetic rubber operations

Goodyear said it has closed textile plants in Cartersvile and Cedartown, Ga., and Scottsboro and Decatur, Ala. as well as the textile portion of its Rockmore, Ga. site. About 2,300 workers will be idled.

Goodrich and Firestone announced the layoff of 1,300 textile workers in four plants. Uniroyal said it will lay off 50 workers.

In a show of support for the strike, about 2,000 workers and their families marched through the streets of downtown Akron Friday. A spokesman for the URW said that morale was 'extremely high.

In a related development, workers for the Mansfield Tire and Rubber Co. have reported back to work following the resolution of a production quota problem. Workers have agreed to a figure of 65 pounds per man per hour. rm says production had dropped off to under 55 pounds per hour.

The remainder of the contract will be negotiated while the workers are back

Deputies recover stolen car

An automobile stolen from a Washington C.H. auto dealership was recovered Saturday night by Fayette County sheriff's deputies. Deputies also arrested two Washington C.H. men over the weekend on possession of marijuana charges.

Parked in the rear of the Ron Farmer's Auto Supermarket lot, a 1972, model Chrysler was repotedly stolen between 6 and 10:51 p.m. Saturday.

Sheriff's deputies said that the thief had apparently broken into the body shop to gain the keys to the car, and had then taken a license plate from another parked car, and attached it to the Chrysler.

The car was found by sheriff's deputies on the Lewis Road at 11:04 p.m. Saturday. The driver, who had fled the scene, had reportedly lost control of the car about a mile west of Ohio 38, and had driven off the right side of the road.

Fence belonging to Paul A. Hays, 740 E. Temple St., was damaged in the accident. The car was moderately Agents from the Ohio damaged. Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Identification assisted sheriff's deputies in the investigation.

While on routine patrol, Sheriff's Deputy D.L. Cox was in the process of checking a vehicle for failure to display valid license plates, when he discovered less than 100 grams of marijuana in the vehicle. The car was located along the Dickey Road, just east of Bloomingburg, and two Washington C.H. men were charged with possession of marijuana at 7:36 p.m. Saturday. The two men were Michael R. Knapp, 19, of 524 Fifth St., and Steven L. Southworth, 19, of 314 Forest St

Five different non-traffic offenses were investigated over the weekend by Washington C.H. police officers.

Pearl M. Bott, 39, of Williamsport, was arrested by Washington C.H. police officers at 4:40 p.m. Sunday, shortly after she had allegedly left Buckeye Mart discount store, without Donald Knisley, 1132 Gregg St., told police officers that his house was ransacked while he was away between the hours of 12 a.m. and 11:30 p.m. Saturday. The front door had apparently been forced to gain entry. Nothing was reported missing.

A $20 battery was reported stolen from a pickup tuck belonging to John Shaffer, 3191/2 E. Court St., as it was parked at the rear of the Standard Oil Co. service station at the corner of Court and North streets. The incident is believed to have occurred sometime Friday night.

Administrative services dean named at college

WILMINGTON - Walter G. Knauff will join the staff of Southern State College as dean of administrative services, according to Dr. Lewis C. Miller, president of Southern State College

Knauff's appointment becomes effective July 1. He will be responsible for the general administration of Southern State College's two campuses, located in Wilmington and Fincastle.

His duties will include overseeing the business operation, personnel administration and institutional relations and advancement.

Knauff is presently assistant director of the Laurel Oaks Career Development Campus in Wilmington, a position he assumed last year after serving as academic supervisor for the Great Oaks Vocational School District.

Prior to joining Laural Oaks, Knauff was principal of Clermont Northeastern High School in Owensville. He was a teacher in the Peebles Local School District for nine years, serving as principal of Peebles High School for six of those years. Knauff holds a bachelor of science degree in secondary education and a masters degree in secondary school supervision from Miami University, where he is presently a doctoral candidate. He is

BOSTON (AP) - Picket lines went at state facilities across Massachusetts today in the first public employes' walkout in the state's

The first tangible effect was a traffic tieup caused by drawbridge workers who walked off the job with the bridges open in and around Boston. The Alliance, a coalition representing about 50,000 of the state's 65,000 employes, took the action after rejecting wage offers, despite warnings from Gov. Michael S. Dukakis that the walkout would be "a clear violation of state law" and could cost some workers

Dukakis promised to seek an injuncton against the job action, illegal under the 1973 state law which permitted state employes to bargain for wage increases. He ordered non-striking officials mobilized to combat the job action at key facilities.

Union officials had been served with an antistrike order Sunday by the State Labor Relations Commission.

Correction Commissioner Frank A. Hall declared a state of emergency at 6 a.m., enabling prison superintendents to hold prison guards for a second shift at Concord Reformatory. A spokesman said complete or almost complete day shifts reported for work at the Framingham, Norfolk, Walpole and

THE HINCKLEY HUNT OF 1818

by Pauline Thornton

Known widely as the place where the buzzards return each year, Hinckley, Ohio was once a virtual game preserve. But while conditions were ideal for the bears, wolves, and other assorted wildlife, they were less so for the early settlers of Hinckley Township.

HOURS

Nothing was more disastrous for a poor settler than to find that a bear had invaded his pig pen or that the wolves had attacked his flock of sheep. According to one account of the early winter of 1818, wolves killed one hundred sheep in a single night. One settler retained a lifelong memory of how his spent pulling the wool from in on their sleds. the freshly killed sheep.

On Christmas Eve of that areas and organized into around the 20-mile perimeter trusty man was sent with the battalions under captains.

The battalions lined up on the four sides of the five-mile square which formed Hinckley Township. On the north were men from Cleveland, Newbury, and Royalton. On the east were the residents of Brecksville and Richfield. Bath and Granger lined up on the south border. And Medina, Brunswick, and Liverpool held the line on the west.

The "army" was not wellequipped, despite the fact that an Ohio law required all men between the ages of 18 and 45 to own a musket. Some of the settlers brought home-made weapons mounted on poles, instead. Others fingers ached after a night used dogs, and hunters came

Turnout, funds raised 'disappointing'

Mixed reactions follow rally

Citizens Defense Fund Committee coordinator Mrs. Richard Allen had mixed reactions to Sunday's rally.

While terming the political jamboree a success because it brought the issues to the public, she was somewhat disappointed in the turnout and the amount of funds raised.

Mrs. Allen, 401 E. Elm St., said she was pleased with the number of signers of petitions for repeal of the city income tax and for a change to a mayor form of government. Held in the Mahan Building on the

Fayette County Fairgrounds, the jamboree attracted more than 800 persons, according to Mrs. Allen's estimate. The purpose of the rally, in part, was to raise money for the defense of five persons arrested in connection with the circulation of petitions against the former city income tax. The promoters also sought to generate support for continuing efforts to repeal the present city income tax and to revamp city government. John E. Rhoads, former Washington H. City Council chairman, and William F. Stolzenburg, one of the five defendants in the petition arrests, addressed those in attendance. Rhaods had instigated a drive in 1966 seeking to bring a mayor form of government to the city. He said that although he played no part in the circulation of such petitions in 1975, he supports the principle of electing as many officials as possible Rhoads cited "irregularities" which have occurred during the past several years as just cause for a "house cleaning." He said severence pay to the former city manager was approved 'after the fact," sewer lines were installed on private property with city equipment, and there had been frequent misappropriation of money from the general bond retirement fund. Although he stressed that no money had been taken for personal use, he felt it had been improperly used to subsidize other funds. The former council member said he supported the efforts to bring a mayor form of government to Washington C. H. because it would be more responsive to the citizens wishes. A city manager, he said, needs only the support of a majority of council to retain his job; a mayor needs the support of the majority of city residents.

When discussing his address Monday morning, Rhoads stressed that he had no qualms with the present city manager, George Shapter, who he helped select for the position. A REQUEST for investigation by the state attorney general of the irregularities cited by Rhoads is being contemplated by the organizers of the jamboree, and Rhoads said he would sign a statement outlining his charges if asked to do so by the committee. Stolzenburg presented his version of the facts surrounding his arrest for interferring with a Washington C.H.

firemen earlier this month. In addition to election fraud charges, Stolzenburg faces charges of interferring and aggravated menacing in connection with an incident at his home. He said he had not attacked firemen who attempted to douse a fire for his 'cookout." He state that he and others were sprayed with water when "Mr.

Reed overstepped his authority a little

Phil Tatman, 437 Warren Ave., a longtime Council critic, said he had to renounce the post when Council saw fit to enforce a rule requiring 24-hour written notice before hearing from taxpayers. He indicated this type of action was typical of the dicatorial type of governing to which Washington C. H.

residents have been subjected. Four of the five persons arrested for election fraud attended the meeting. They were Stolzenburg, 54, and his wife Dorothy, 35, of 804 Maple St., Russell Pollard, 42, of 1335 Washington Ave., and the Rev. C. H. Detty, 426 Sixth St. Harold Gault, 69, of 508 Gibbs Ave., has been in poor health and was unable to attend. Mrs. Allen said "several hundred" dollars were raised for the defense of the five defendants, but exact figures were not yet available.

Childhood dream comes true for Portsmouth contestant

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) wanted to be Miss America since I was, oh, about 7, I guess," said Janice Elaine Cooley of Portsmouth. She is a step closer now, after being chosen as Miss Ohio for 1977.

The third time proved the charm for Miss Cooley. In 1974, she was Miss Portsmouth and was one of the 10 finalists for the Miss Ohio title. The following year, she was Miss Miami Valley, won the Miss Ohio talent competition and was third runnerup for the crown. For her third try, Saturday night, she asked her friends from Portsmouth not to make a fuss. So, only her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Cooley, were in the audience when the 20-year-old beauty was crowned by Susan Kay Banks, Miss Ohio 1976.

The 5-foot-41/2 brunette, a concert pianist entered as Miss Ohio Valley, won a $1,500 scholarship and will represent Ohio in the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City in the fall.

The first runnerup in the event was Susan Ynonne Perkins, 21, of Middletown, Miss Miami University, a vocalist.

Other runnersup, in order, were Susan Marie Swies, 21, of Gahanna, Miss Mid-Ohio, a dancer; Sherry Lynnette Patrick, 17, of Centerville, Miss Miami Valley, a dancer, and Taryn Lee Hunter, 19, of Columbus,

Miss Southwestern Ohio, a vocalist. Joan Patricia Gilger, 19, of Mansfield, Miss North Central Ohio, a trampoline artist, was award the grand talent prize. The new Miss Ohio is a senior in college studying for a degree in music Her interests include reading, horseback riding, dancing and writing. Miss Cooley says the talent competition of past years can't be compared with this year's.

'It's a different age bracket," she said. "The girls are younger, and you really can't compare talents. There are so many diverse talents.

She won the crown this year based on a selection by a panel of five judges: Judy Swanson, a director of the Miss Illinois Pageant; Mary Lou Lewis, former members of the staff of the Miss Wisconsin Pageant and judge in 1973 of the Miss Colorado Pageant; Dr. Glenn E. Whitesides, president of Newberry College in Newberry, S.C.; Eddie Foy III, an independent casting director, and Richard J. Larson, an attorney from Illinois.

The judges were instructed to pick the "ideal American girl."

ATTENTION FARMERS

A significant increase of corn yield was proven in Fayette County, last year, with the use of Dinitro. This chemical was used as a growth stimulant on 3,000 acres of test plots in our immediate area. Six years of testing by Purdue University indicates 5 per cent to 10 per cent increase in yield can be achieved with this growth stimulant, when applied at the right time. As a result, an estimated 50,000 acres in 1974 and 500,000 acres in 1975 were treated by Indiana farmers. The price is so low, $2.95 an acre including chemical and application, that you shouldn't miss this money making opportunity. Call us for information on how to determine the proper time to treat your corn. (We estimate June 21 to July 4 will be the time to start this year.)

NOTE: Treated corn should not be used for grazing or silage.

Phillies pound Reds

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds may be the defending World Champions, but they get no respect from the Philadelphia

The Phillies have shown this season that they can play ball with the Reds in fact, they've shown that they can play it better.

Nothing they do surprises me," said Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark after his team beat the Reds 6-1 Sunday and won the deciding match of a threegame series.

The victory gave the National League East leaders a 4-2 edge so far in six games with Sparky Anderson's club. In a series earlier, the Phillies also won the set, two games to one.

The Phillies out-hit, out-pitched and out-fielded Cincinnati and reliever Ron Reed seemed to personify all their elan. Reed came into the game with the bases loaded, none out and the Phillies leading 4-1 in the sixth inning. The relief pitcher then struck out Tony and Johnny Bench, both dangerous hitters, and got pinch-hitter Ken Griffey on a weak pop fly.

In the other National League games, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Houston Astros 9-5 in the opener of a doubleheader before the nightcap was rained out; the San Francisco Giants routed the New York Mets 9-2: the Montreal Expos edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-4; the San Diego Padres nipped the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4, and Atlanta Braves blanked the Chicago Cubs 5-0.

After Reed cut the Reds down in the sixth, Ollie Brown did the same in the seventh. Brown stymied a Cincinnati rally with a perfect throw from right field. Doug Flynn singled to open the Reds' seventh and moved to second on a base hit by Dan Driessen. When Flynn atempted to score on Pete Rose's single to right, Brown nailed him at

While Reed was knocking the Reds out of the game with his throwing and Brown with his fielding, starting Philadelphia pitcher Jim Kaat, 7-2, was clubbing them with his bat. He singled during a three-run second inning, helping the Phillies to all the runs they

Astros 9, Pirates 5 Wilbur Howard's pinch single drove in the go-ahead run as Houston scored five times in the eighth off relief pitcher

Bob Moose and beat Pittsburgh.

Tom Griffin pitched four hitless innings of relief for the Astros, raising his record to 5-1. A chilly drizzle fell throughout the game before the scheduled nightcap was washed out. Play was halted intermittently for the grounds crew to spread sawdust around home plate and the bases.

Giants 9, Mets 2 Ed Halicki, 5-10, knocked in three runs with two singles and, aided by late

The Giants opened the game with a five-run, first-inning burst during which they produced five hits. The key blows were Derrel Thomas' run-scoring double, Ken Reitz' two-run single and Halicki's two-run single off New York left-hander Jon Matlack, 8-2.

Expos 5, Dodgers 4

Pete Mackanin's three-run homer capped a five-run outburst in the sixth inning that gave Montreal its victory over Los Angeles.

Mackanin, who delivered a gamewinning single in Montreal's 2-1 victory over Los Angeles Saturday, smashed a 2-0 pitch from loser Burt Hooton into the left field bleachers for his fifth homer of the season.

Padres 5, Cardinals 4

Johnny Grubb's run-scoring double snapped a tie in the ninth inning and lifted San Diego over St. Louis. Grubb's hit came off former Padres hurler Bill Grief, 1-4, after the Cardinals had battled back and tied the score with two runs an inning earlier.

Grief retired the Padres' Fred Kendall before pinch-hitter Gene Locklear stroked a single to left. Grubb, who earlier contributed a tworun single in a three-run Padres fourth inning, then delivered a towering drive to left center that Bake McBride narrowly missed catching.

Braves 5, Cubs 0

Darrell Chaney drove in three runs with a pair of doubles, Rowland Office hit in his 25th straight game and righthander Dick Ruthven hurled a fourhitter, leading Atlanta over Chicago.

Ruthven, 8-6, never permitted a runner past second base as the Braves won their third game from the Cubs in

Dramatic shot gives Pate open win

DULUTH, Ga. (AP) - Young Jerry Pate looked at his ball nestling on a clump of Bermuda rough and measured his target, a flagstick sitting treacherously close to the front of a finger-thin green guarded by an expanse of water.

"I turned to my caddie, John Considine," he said, "and I told him, 'I've got to go for it. This is my one big chance to win the Open.'

Pate took a five-iron from his bag. "I had a good lie - I felt sure I could make it," he said. "I was all pumped rain-drenched wings of the Atlanta Athletic Club - the club Bob Jones once belonged to - Pate swung gracefully and the ball arched toward the flag as if drawn by an invisible magnet

That's the situation for baseball and Charles O. Finley, as the Oakland owner was expected to file a multimillion dollar damage suit today or Tuesday against Commissioer Bowie Kuhn and his office.

Finley, who made his fortune in the insurance business, has gambled on the courts before and lost, while baseball, a sport fascinated by statistics, is batting 000 in recent legal tangles.

Neil Papiano, Finley's lawyer, said Sunday from Los Angeles that he would file four or five causes of action seeking damages "in the neighborhood of $10 million" and asking an injunction against Kuhn's order nullifying Finley's $3.5 million sale of three star

Papiano said the suit would be filed either in a state or federal court in California. "Whichever court we think will give us a quicker hearing," Papiano said.

Finley has been chasing Catfish Hunter in the California courts ever since 1974, when arbitrator Peter Seitz ruled the star pitcher free because Finley breached Hunter's contract. He has lost once but, undaunted, Finley has appealed to a higher court.

Papiano said he expects a decision from the California Court of Appeals

Temperamental Tom Weiskopf and

gangling Al Geiberger made plucky stabs at winning but fell short after firing rounds of 68 and 69, respectively, for 279. For the second year in a row, cherub-faced John Mahaffey saw the prize wrenched from his grasp as he finished bogey-bogey-bogey for a 73 that tied him at 280 with Butch Baird, an outsider wearing thick glasses and a widebrimmed plantation hat.

Yanks, O's stretch streak to six

Tribe outlasts Kansas City

By The Associated Press

The Cleveland Indians and Baltimore Orioles know what a treadmill feels like. The Indians, though, have a chance to do something about it.

The Indians outlasted the Kansas City Royals 11-8 Sunday for their eighth victory in 10 games. During that stretch, however, they've gained exactly one-half game on the New York Yankees, season-long leaders in the American League East.

Meanwhile, the Orioles blanked the Texas Rangers 2-0 for their sixth consecutive triumph, a streak that has seen them only stay even with the Yankees, who ran their own winning string to six games with a 6-3 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

In other AL games, the Boston Red Sox nipped the California Angels 4-3 in

New York leads runner-up Cleveland by seven games as the two clubs begin a four-game series at Yankee Stadium tonight

The Indians led Kansas City 9-0 after three innings. The Royals rallied for eight runs in the fourth before Jim Bibby and two other Cleveland hurlers combined for six innings of shutout relief. Ray Fosse drove in four runs for the Indians while Rico Carty homered. Orioles 2. Rangers 1

Mike Cuellar checked Texas on three hits in outdueling Gaylord Perry. It was Texas' fifth consecutive loss and kept the Rangers five games behind KC in the AL West.

Perry breezed through five innings without allowing a hit before Brooks Robinson doubled to lead off the sixth and Dave Duncan singled him home with the only run Cuellar needed.

Yankees 6, White Sox 3 Thurman Munson's two-run single featured a five-run uprising against ex-Yankee Ken Brett. The loss was the 10th straight for the White Sox, who earlier had won 10 in a row and now own the longest losing and winning streaks in the American League this

Red Sox 4, Angels 3

Rick Burleson's two-out single in the 11th inning scored Bobby Darwin, who had doubled, as the Red Sox beat former teammate Dick Drago. Bobby Bonds' homer put California ahead 3-2 in the sixth inning and Boston tied it in the eighth on a walk to Carl Yastrzemski and Jim Rice's two-out double. A's 7, Brewers 5

Don Baylor's homer off Bill Travers broke a 4-4 tie in the fifth inning and the A's went on to their fourth triumph in six games since the controversial and since overruled - sale of stars Vida Blue, Joe Rudi and Rollie Fingers. Milwaukee's Robin Yount had a homer, a pair of doubles and a single and drove in three runs for finding out whether a discoloration is dirt or mildew? A. - Wet the affected area with a household bleach. If it is mildew, it will turn white in about 5 minutes. If it doesn't turn white, it's dirt.

Tigers 7, Twins 3 Rookie first baseman Jaso Thompson drove in four runs with a homer and single and rookie pitching sensation Mark Fidrych notched his sixth victory in seven decisions with seventh-inning help from John Hiller. The Tigers scored all their runs off Bill Singer.

Q. - Please settle an argument. Is it necessary to use a sealer over a wood stain if the final finish is to be varnish?

A. - The word "necessary" makes a flat yes or no difficult. It may not be necessary, since I have seen some finishing projects where the sealer was not used, but my own preference is for use of the sealer. When the final coat is to be varnish, I use a coat of shellac diluted 50 per cent with denatured alcohol. However, if you have already purchased the varnish, read the label carefully to see whether the manufacturer has made any specific recommendation about the type of sealer, if any, to be used over a stain. That's because there are so many different kinds of varnish on the market these days it is important to read the instructions about the Dble Opening lead - six of diamonds.

If you don't believe in fairy tales, you won't believe this story, but I have it on good authority that this deal was played in the early days of more contract bridge specifically, in 1927.

South bid one spade. Today we'd start with one club, but in those days the idea of bidding the suit under the singleton had not yet been developed.

West bid two hearts, a hairraising venture by present standards, but people were more sporting in the 20's. North fearlessly joined the fray with three diamonds, but at least he had South's opening bid to lean

South was an imaginative player who realized he probably couldn't develop many diamond tricks in notrump, so he splashed right into four hearts - even though West had bid the suit. He thought he'd score enough high-card tricks in the side suits and enough low-card tricks in trumps to land ten of

West doubled - he couldn't accept this insult lying down and led a diamond. South had no trouble making the contract; it was like taking candy from a baby. He cashed the A-K of diamonds, discarding a club, and led a club to the king, which lost to the ace.

Back came the ten of clubs. South took the queen, cashed the A-K of spades, ruffed a spade in dummy, then ruffed a diamond in his hand.

By this time South had won seven of the first eight tricks. He still had the A-Q-10 of hearts, a spade and a club. West had the K-J-9-8-5 of trumps, but they had gradually been losing their attraction.

Declarer now led a spade, forcing West to ruff and return a trump. South won with the ten and exited with a club. Again West ruffed and returned a trump, so South made four

"I still think I got off a pretty doggone clever remark at the office."

Housing starts show increase

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - It is difficult to become enthusiastic about the slight increase in housing starts during April since it still brings the annual rate to only 1.4 million units, far below the nation's needs.

Still, any increase at all in this measure of our national well being does contain an iota of encouragement, because the price obstacles - down payment, taxes, interest among them are formidable.

The cost of a new single-family house is about twice what it was a decade ago. Interest rates are about 50 per cent higher, taxes 70 per cent, utility bills 80 per cent. Over-all, costs have risen far more than incomes.

Transportation costs have added to the bill. Not only does gasoline for the car cost more, but so does public transportation into the city from the more distant sites to which buyers and builders have fled in search of economies.

But the pressure of prices is producing one result that might prove rewarding for both the individual buyer and communities in general.

It is this: Since nobody seems to have an answer to the problem of rising housing costs except to build the product smaller and otherwise less adequately than before, many couples are forced to reconsider existing

Much of this housing is substantial but often it is also run down. Much of it is in communities from which people once used to think they graduated as their incomes rose. Now it is being viewed differently.

Adding to its appeal is that such housing offers conveniences that often take years to develop in new communities, such as existing churches, schools, stores, public transportation, entertainment.

Billions of dollars of such infrastructure lies almost abandoned in some cities as people flee to the suburbs or to smaller towns, even though it remains essentially sound.

The era of the throwaway house therefore could gradually blend into another era, that of the rediscovered older house.

While builders of new homes were going bankrupt in 1975, many real estate salesmen were reporting record high sales because of existing-home sales. Some mortgage lenders had one of their biggest years ever, for the same reason.

Owners of some existing houses also reconsidered and changed their plans

Expenditures for residential additions and alterations on owneroccupied, single-family properties averaged less than $6 billion a year from 1971 to 1973, but jumped to $6.4 billion in 1974 and $8.5 billion in 1975.

Some of this increase can be attributed to inflation, but not all. The 31 per cent rise during 1975 suggests that many home owners renovated rather than ran, decided to hold on rather than throw away

How far this latest tendency will go and how long it will last is difficult to forecast, because it exists within a larger and perhaps more powerful trend, that of discarding rather than renovating older homes

Auxiliary deputy completes course

A Favette County man recently achieved special distinctions upon his completion of a law officer training course conducted in Circleville by the Ohio Peace Officers Training Council.

According to the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, George E. Hellenthal, 43, of 690 Staunton-Jasper Road, has completed the 280 classroom hour course required of potential auxiliary sheriff's deputy. Hellenthal had a 100 per cent attendance record, and was elected president of his class.

A total of 22 other sheriff's deputy and auxiliary candidates attended the program hosted by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department. The courses took place between 6:30 and 10:30 p.m. four nights per week.

Describing the course as "long and rough," Hellenthal said that there were many times when he would not get home until 12 midnight. On occassion he would additionally assist Fayette County sheriff's deputies during an auto investigation.

Hellenthal said that his venture into the law enforcement field was the result of a desire to help the Fayette County community. He said that he has always wanted to be a sheriff's deputy, and thinks highly of the personnel in the Fayette County Sheriff's Department.

Student honored for second year

Michael Hughes, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hughes, 177 Canterbury Place, has been selected for the second consecutive year to have his biography printed in the 10th annual edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students.'

Only four per cent of the junior and senior high school students throughout the U.S. receive this recognition, which is based on the demonstration of leadership in academics, athletics, extra-curricular activities or community services. Hughes has been a participant in both the Washington Senior High School concert and marching band for the past four years, and he was also a member of the pep and stage bands. The recipient of the God and Country Award, while a Boy Scout, Hughes went on to become an Eagle Scout. He is active in church work, and is a member of the Washington Senior High School National Honor Society, Hi-Y Club, and the Junior Naval ROTC. As a Rociteer, Hughes was selected as the top target shooter in this district and during his freshman year in high school, he was selected as the ourstanding first year cadat. Hughes also was instrumental in helping to stage all of Washington Senior High School musicals.

A 1976 graduate of Washington Senior High School, Hughes plans to attend the University of Cincinnati in the fall and major in electrical engineering.

But the U.S. government and other anti-Communist regimes feared that a Communist victory would endanger Italy's place in NATO and could lead to Communist gains in France.

At stake were 630 seats in the Chamber of Deputies and 315 in the Senate. None of the nine parties was expected to win a majority, and it could be weeks before the forging of the coalition that will become Italy's 35th postwar government.

But the resounding defeat of an attempt by the government party and the Vatican last year to revoke the divorce law was attributed largely to women, and many of them have been angered this year by the Christian Democrats' refusal to agree to a liberal abortion law.

'Holiday mood' aboard

Evacuation ship steams to Athens

ABOARD USS SPIEGEL GROVE (AP) — The Spiegel Grove and its cargo of 267 American and other refugees from the Lebanese civil war steamed toward Athens today.

A holiday mood took hold soon after. the 110 Americans and 157 evacuees of other nationalities climbed aboard the 510-foot LSD (landing ship dock) in the Mediterranean off Beirut on Sunday.

After a choppy, 25-minute ride from the beach in a landing craft, the refugees were served cold drinks and oatmeal cookies. The children found a play area penned off by cargo nets on deck. Adults peered through telescopes at their escort ships, talked with the sailors or sunned themselves as the 36hour voyage to Athens began.

Less than 10 per cent of the American community in warshattered Lebanon took advantage of the sea evacuation

Ford ordered the sea rescue when it became clear early Sunday that con-tinued fighting between Syrian and Palestinian forces south of Beirut made a road convoy to Damascus, Syria, risky. Ford and the National Security Council maintained an all-night vigil Saturday at the White House, receiving Pentagon reports on the evacuation, dubbed "Operation Fluid Drive."

Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld and three members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff were at the Pentagon, monitoring the progress of the

Carter supporters eye few changes

of Jimmy Carter have shown they are uninterested in pushing major structural changes within the Democratic party during the Democratic national convention in New York next month.

Carter forces were in firm control as the party's rules committee defeated nearly every proposal for substantial change considered in two days of weekend meetings. The committee sets the agenda for the convention and recommends changes in procedure.

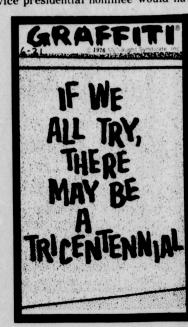

Among the unsuccessful proposals were moves to establish a system for selecting a vice president and for requiring that women constitute 50 per cent of convention delegates.

Meanwhile, Ronald Reagan cut President Ford's delegate lead by 17 and predicted a first ballot victory at the GOP national convention. The Associated Press tally shows Ford with 1,005 delegates pledged to him after weekend delegate selection in five states. Reagan had 932.

There are 157 delegates remaining to be chosen and 164 in the uncommitted category. To win, a candidate needs 1,130.

At the Democratic rules committee meeting over the weekend, members voted down a proposal that would have revised the way in which vice presidential candidates are chosen by the convention.

Had the proposals passed, the 1980 vice presidential nominee would have

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supporters been required to run in at least one presidential primary, to declare his candidacy for the No. 2 spot at least two weeks before the convention, or to be > two weeks before the convention. Supporters of the proposed change acknowledged that Carter is using a careful vice presidential selection process this year which closely parallels the method they suggested for 1980 and beyond.

> suggested by a presidential candidate

But one Carter strategist said the former Georgia governor did not want to have his hands tied on vice presidential selection if he should win this November and then run again in 1980. So the proposal was defeated in a voice vote by the rules committee.

Another unsuccessful proposed change came from the Democratic Women's Caucus which urged that starting in 1980 half of the delegates to the national convention be women.

Supporters insisted that the 50-50 proposed split did not constitute a quota like those which existed at the 1972 convention and caused deep divisions within the party.

Carter delegates and supporters prepared a substitute offered by former New York Gov. Averill Harriman that called for state Democratic organizations to "promote" equal numbers of male and female delegates, but dropped any rule for enforcement of any proportions.

White House Press Secretary Ron
Nessen said Ford stayed up until after the evacuees were safely aboard the LSD at 5:12 a.m. EDT "to be ready to make whatever decision would have to be made if it did not go as smoothly as it

The U.S. government emphasized that the landing craft sent into the beach was unarmed. But a Navy spokesman said a five-ship amphibious group with 1,800 Marines and armor, artillery and helicopters aboard was standing by, "prepared to go in under fire" if ordered to do so.

Evacuee Vicki Ulrey of Greenwich, Conn., said she had "mixed feelings. "There's an election going on in the United States, and it's certainly beneficial for President Ford to show firmness in a situation like this," she said. "At the same time, I'm not cynical. I know the road has been cut. I just hope our going out in such a spectacular way won't jeopardize the Americans who are left here.'

Ford ordered an evacuation for Americans arranged last week after U.S. Ambassador Francis E. Meloy Jr., his economic counselor and their Lebanese chauffeur were murdered as they were driving through the no-man's land between the Moslem and Christian sectors of Beirut.

Desite the murders, most Americans in Beirut did not want to leave because the war in the city has subsided. Many are of Lebanese birth.

Nessen said the U.S. government has no plans for more evacauations. A British diplomat in Beirut said his Embassy intends to try again to organize an overland convoy to Damascus when security conditions im-

Kissinger defends corporations

By The Associated Press

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger defended multinational corporations today and called for encouragement of their operations.

"The imperatives of inter-depedence" require an open international trade and monetary system in the West and the encouragement of investments by big international corporations, Kissinger said in a speech prepared for delivery to the 24-nation Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development. "A few notorious cases of illicit payments have stirred apprehension that cast a cloud over the overwhelming majority of international firms whose behavior has been beyond reproach," he said.

He advocated for multinational firms and clearer government rules. These guidelines are expected to be approved at the current OECD meeting.

Kissinger also appealed to the other industrialized nations to adopt a common approach in trading with the Soviet Bloc.

He said a coordinated policy could facilitate the flow of Soviet oil to the West, whose imports will increase up to 10 million barrels a day by 1985.

Growing East-West trade "presents hopeful prospects, both economic and political, if approached with understanding, skill and foresight," Kissinger said.

However, the unified approach to East-West trade he proposed is a sensitive subject since it would tend to enhance the role of the United States at the expense of other nations whose trade with the Soviet Union is more advantageous. Together, the Common market and Japan hold some $11 billion in credits to the Soviet Bloc, while the United States has only about $400

Before the OECD meeting, Kissinger discussed Lebanon's future with French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing in a meeting at the Elysee Palace. Since Syrian President Hafez Assad visited Paris last week, the secretary of state hoped to get some insight into his ultimate objectives in Lebanon and to prospects for the roundtable conference of the warring factions which France has proposed.

Kissinger said he and Giscard would also exchange ideas on the economic summit meeting which President Ford is holding in Puerto Rico next weekend with the heads of the French, British, Canadian, West German, Italian and Japanese governments.

The principal purpose of Kissinger's week-long trip to Europe is to meet Wednesday and Thursday in West Germany with Prime Minister John Vorster of South Africa. The meeting comes as guerrilla activity in Rhodesia is escalating and just after the worst race riots in South African history in which more than 100 people died, 1,000 were injured and millions of dollars worth of property was destroyed.

Tall-ship race marred by 7-vessel collision

By The Associated Press

Bicentennial race for tall-masted ships from Bermuda to Newport, R.I., apparently led to collisions involving seven of the sailing vessels, two of them among the largest in the flotilla.

Two of the square riggers were forced to quit the race and two sailors reportedly suffered minor injuries Sunday in the initial stage of the race by the 18 tall ships and some 12 smaller vessels.

The Providence (R.I.) Journal, which had two reporters covering the race, said the collisions occurred because many of the ships along the 11/4-mile starting line were trying to get as close as possible to the windward starting mark and then tack starboard.

"Everyone was pinching that windward mark." Coast Guard Lt. Tony Mink, commandant of the host ship Eagle, was quoted by the newspaper as saying. The Journal had a reporter aboard the Eagle.

Cmdr. Greville Howard, vice chairman of the Sail Training Association which organized the race, said the race committee would meet in Newport and issue a statement after evaluating reports from all the ships

The passage to Newport is mainly an exercise for 3,000 sail training cadets from all over the world. The fleet is

> One collision involved three ships The 350-foot, four-masted Spanish topsail schooner Juan Sebastian de Elcano incurred a broken foremast and had to turn back to Bermuda, and the three-masted, 338-foot Libertad from Argentina suffered two torn sails, damaged lifeboats and a smashed port

The Christian Radich, a 241-foot, three-masted full rigged ship from Norway reported no damage. Both the Libertad and the Christian Radich continued the race.

Capt. James R. Kelly of the Eagle said he narrowly avoided the three-ship collision about 50 yards from his bow.

The second serious collision involved the 178-foot Gazela Primeiro, a Portuguese vessel now owned by the Philadelphia Maritime Museum, and the 269-foot Romanian ship Mircea. The Gazela Primeiro reported that the top section of her mast was broken and she turned back. There were no reports of damage to the Mircea, which sailed on.

In a third mishap, the British frigate H.M.S. Eskimo and the 70-foot Italian yawl Stella Polare reported brushing each other, but both continued in the

Social Security recipients find smaller checks

WASHINGTON (AP) - Millions of Social Security recipients will soon find their benefit checks a little smaller as the cost of Medicare insurance rises by 50 cents a month.

The government is raising the monthly premium for Medicare's "Part B" coverage to $7.20 from $6.70 monthly starting July 1. Some 24.6 million elderly and disabled Americans are covered under Part B, which pays doctors' bills and other out-of-hospital medical costs.

The government deducts the Medicare premium automatically from the monthly checks of many persons drawing Social Security. State Medicaid agencies pay the premiums for more than 3 million persons, and the government bills others quarterly.

A legislative quirk prevented the government from raising premiums since July 1, 1974.

Rioting continues in South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Rioting erupted today in black townships outside Pretoria, the South African capital, and police said at least two blacks were shot to death.

Stone throwing and other unrest was reported at schools in some of the smaller black ghettos near Johannesburg, but life was returning to normal in the bigger townships that were the battlegrounds last week for the worst racial violence in South African history.

The government in its first comprehensive report of casualties and damage in the rioting last week said at least 128 persons were killed, 1,112 were injured, 143 vehicles and 139 buildings were burned or damaged.

The commissioner of police, Gen. Gert Prinsloo, said white casualties were two dead and six injured.

"It has definitely been established that 41 blacks were killed and 75 injured a a result of police action," the general added, explaining that investigations were continuing to determine who was responsible for as-yetunclassified casualties.

Meanwhile, the police reported trouble in three townships around

They said four buses and a bus company office were set afire at Mabopane, about 21 miles northwest of the city, in an apparent protest over recent fare increases. The area was being cordoned off by police, who confirmed at least two blacks were shot dead. Several school youths were injured when police fired on blacks looting a liquor store. A police commander in North Pretoria said buildings at Hammanskraal, north of the city, and the bus terminal at Hebron, west of the city, were set on fire Sunday night. Trouble also was reported at schools and other centers in Mamelodi, another large Pretoria township.

The township of Soweto, the central battleground in the three-day upheaval, appeared peaceful but damage from three days of rioting there was substantial.

The rioting began when police broke up a demonstration by 10,000 students protesting being taught in Afrikaans, the language derived from the Dutch which is used only by the South African Boer whites. The riots expanded into a general uprising against the white government's apartheid policy of racial separation and repression, and thugs and other lawless elements joined in.

Congressmen to get substantial pensions

WASHINGTON (AP) -Representatives and senators leaving Congress at the end of this year will take some substantial financial consolations with them into retirement in the form of pensions ranging in most cases from around $11,000 to more than

The top retirement pay under the congressional formula would go to House Speaker Carl Albert, who draws the highest current salary of any of the retirees, $65,600, and has enough combined congressional and military service to put him in the maximum percentage bracket for pension determination.

Sens. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa., can expect annual retirement pay of more than $40,000. Their current pay as majority and minority leaders, respectively, is unofficial. It is impossible now to calculate exactly what a retiring member will receive because Congress may get another pay raise before the year is over.

Members contribute 8 per cent of their salary to the retirement fund and the government puts in a contribution that makes up the difference. Members' pensions are based on length of service and on the average salary in their three highest-paid years. For each year of service, a member receives 2.5 per cent of the high-three average. Military service up to five years may be added to congressional service. Under somewhat different formulas, government service other than in Congress also may be counted

The maximum pension, regardless of length of service, is 80 per cent of the three-year average. Thus a member reaches the limit with 32 years of

Congressional pay last year was tied to the cost-of-living adjustment formula applicable to federal workers generally. Congress got a 5 per cent increase last October. The unofficial computations assume another 5 per cent increase this year.

For a member drawing no special pay because of a leadership post, the indicated maximum pension would be about $34,800, based on current pay of $44,600 and this year's assumed pay increase.

Five retirees meet the maximum service requirement: Reps. Robert E. Jones, D-Ala.; Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa.; Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark.; F. Edward Hebert, D-La.; and Ray J. Madden, D-Ind.

Other long-term retirees and their estimated pensions include: Rep. Phil M. Landrum, D-Ga., 24 years, $26,000; Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., 27 vears, $29,000; Rep. John Jarman, R-Okla., 26 years, $28,000; Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., 24 years, $26,000.

So far, 29 House members have announced retirement or lost primaries. Eight senators have said they will retire. Eighteen other House members are leaving that body to run for the Senate, so they have a chance to continue congressional service.

Carter's hometown attracts tourists

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — While Jimmy Carter ponders his presidential prospects, his presence in this tiny southwest Georgia town, population 683, shows signs of spawning a tourist industry.

Carter attended services Sunday at Plains Baptist Church, taught a mens' Sunday school class and then went home to work on his choice of a Democratic running mate.

But as he worked visitors were flocking to the village for a glimpse of its most famous son. More than a dozen persons awaited the former Georgia governor and Plains peanut farmer outside the church.

By Plains standards, the tourists were swarming.

Last weekend, said Maxine Reese, 200 to 300 persons visited the old railroad depot in the center of town that serves as Carter's welcome center.

The depot, painted in the green and white Carter campaign colors, is stocked with souvenirs. A Carter Tshirt costs $5, a gold peanut lapel pin $10 and line drawings of the candidate $2. Autographed, the drawings sell for

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market showed little change today, still struggling against the profit taking that showed up in Friday's session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials hovered around Friday's closing level in early activity today.
Gainers took a slight lead over losers in the over-all count of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues. Brokers said the market seemed to be balanced between encouragement over the outlook for interest rates and the economic recovery and doubts about whether the Dow was ready to push past its previous closing high for the year of 1,011.02.

Today's prices included Xerox, up 1/8 at 591/2; Atlantic Richfield, down 1/2 at 1011/2; Citicorp, off 3/8 at 37, and Dow Chemical, up 1/8 at 513/8.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average slipped 1.39 to 1,001.80, failing to hold an early 6-point gain. But advances held on for an 8-5 edge over declines among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index rose .12 to 55.29.

Big Board volume came to 25.72 million shares. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .55 at 104.89. encroachment of big brother from the Spacecraft "During the tenure of the incumbent (Hays), government regulations have become a tidal wave. We need to looking for remove the politicians from power and

> Earth-bound controllers prepared to fire Viking 1's onboard engines at 1:43 p.m. EDT and whittle its orbit from a 42.3-hour path around the planet to one corresponding to the number of hours in a Martian day - 24 hours and 37 minutes.

The spacecraft was made ready to fire its rocket engine on reaching a point 940 miles above the site where its robot laboratory lander will set down on America's birthday. At about 2 p.m. EDT Tuesday, Viking will begin a photographic session that will last until landing day. Using stereo cameras that produce three-dimensional images, the spacecraft will scan the ancient valley for any hazards that could damage the lab when it descends to the surface. The predetermined site is thought to be smooth and gently rolling.

The craft also will be using infrared equipment to check for temperature differences across the Martian surface and water content in its atmosphere. In its new elliptical orbit, Viking's distance from the planet will vary from

930 miles to 20,000 miles. Viking 1, which has a companion ship following 10 million miles behind, arrived near Mars on Saturday, fired a 38-minute braking burst and swung into orbit. Mission officials at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory here said the maneuver was precise, "as if it had been following a textbook."

"After eight years, we're finally in orbit," said Jim Martin, manager of the Viking project that officially began in 1968

Mission director Tom Young noted that the flawless orbit maneuver following a 440-million-mile trip from earth was a "significant feat," but only a first step in Viking's search for life on

Brazilian connection provides evidence in Kennedy probe

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate intelligence committee has pieced together a Brazilian connection that informed sources say provides further circumstantial evidence that Cuba's Fidel Castro knew about a CIA plot against his life. These sources noted that the CIA plot continued despite Castro's apparent knowledge of it and that this adds weight to the never-proven theory that the Cuban dictator had a motive to order the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

In September 1963, a Cuban CIA operative, code-named "AM-LASH," contacted a U.S. intelligence agent in Brazil where they discussed assassinating Castro, the sources say.

Two days later, Castro chose the Brazilian embassy in Havana as the site for an impromptu news conference at which he publicly warned that "U.S. leaders should think that if they are aiding terrorist plans to eliminate Cuban leaders, they themselves will not be safe."

"The fact that Castro chose the Brazilian embassy as the site to make his remarks was taken (by the committee) as an indication that he knew' about the CIA plot, one source close to the committee said.

"If you were dealing with a clod, you might dismiss it," this source added, but Castro was a bright fellow who liked nuance."

The sources said that the Brazilian connection should have triggered alarms within the CIA that the undercover agent, a highly placed official in the Cuban government, was a double agent keeping Castro informed of every development in the assassination plot.

Instead, tha plot continued, with CIA officers secretly meeting AM-LASH in various parts of the world through October and November 1963.

At a meeting in October, a CIA officer named Desmond Fitzgerald identified himself as the personal representative of the President's brother, thenAtty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The final meeting between AM-LASH and Fitzgerald, at which the CIA officer delivered an assassination device, occurred on Nov. 22, the day Kennedy was killed in Dallas.

Sources said the continued existence of the plot in the face of strong signals sent by Castro, along with Fitzgerald's claim to AM-LASH that he was representing the President's brother, could have formed the motive for the Kennedy assassination. However, these sources stressed that there is no hard evidence linking Castro to Kennedy's death. Castro recently denied any connection with the assassination.

One source said that not all the members of the nowdefunct intelligence comittee support the theory that Castro was behind Kennedy's

Federal printing facelift

The Congressional Record is a nessage from Dullsville, from typographically speaking. Though this daily compendium of House and Senate floor proceedings contains much of importance (along with a lot of rhetorical flatulence) its grey columns are unrelieved by any attempt to improve their readability.

Perhaps this is of no great consequence, since only a handful of Americans ever see the Record. This cannot be said, however, of an array of government booklets, manuals, forms and other publications in-tended for public consumption. Their customary drabness makes most of them an offense to the eye.

Happily, a drive is under way to get federal agencies to improve the appearance of their publications and make them more readable. This is being done through a project sponsored by the National Endowment for the Arts - "an effort," in the words of NEA Chairman Nancy Hanks, "to improve communication between government and people" and people.'

A pleasant spinoff of the undertaking is a reduction in printing costs, which results from standardized design. This is just one of the benefits which argue for continuing this effort throughout the whole federal establishment.

Related to this is the insistence that the grain be shipped in American bottoms, adding greatly to the price and a reason for a Russian hold-back. The power of the maritime unions in connection hardly endears unionism to the prairie states.

The farm states were a crucial factor in Harry Truman's astonishing upset victory in 1948. He came down hard for 100 per cent of parity for principal farm crops while his Republican opponent, Thomas E. Dewey, stood on 80 per cent. This was in itself almost enough to insure an electoral harvest in the farm

Any resemblance between 1948 and past test periods: They held the same challenges, and more. Past procedures 1976 stops here. This time there is not merely confidence of victory in November but, as some Democrats fear, overconfiednce which could result in a relaxation of effort with fatal results.

National Democratic Chairman Robert Strauss has in three and a half years done an extraordinary job of pulling together the warring factions of the party left in the aftermath of the shambles of 1972. It was not one party but two or three parties. Traveling in 30 states and working with Democratic play it down, to achieve whithout asking plaudits. Be careful about officeholders from governor on down, he has put together a united front prepared to work for a moderate center candidate.

At the same time, however, Strauss is trying to examine as objectively as possible the outlook for the big contest. He shares the feeling that Ronald Reagan might be a more formidable opponent than President Ford. If Reagan should pick John Connally as his Vice President, his chances of carrying Texas, where he won a big primary victory, would be greatly

Then carrying California, his home state, with the rest of the West, where he is strong, and with a good chance in conservative Florida, Reagan could win. This is the sober arithmetic troubling those who fear over-confidence. This same arithmetic may well enter into the calculations of the delegates to the Republican convention in Kansas City.

With the advantage of a candidate virtually certain a month in advance of the convention, and with a platform that with a few exceptions conforms to geared up to enlist all elements of the Putting aside his presidential ambitions, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey is expected to around the country addressing himself in particular to organized labor where he has his greatest strength.

Regardless of whether the opponent is Reagan or Ford, California is a question mark. Gov. Edmund G. Brown continued his campaign long after the Carter bandwagon had taken on board virtually all of the other primary opposition. But if Ford cannot carry his own state for the national ticket - or if he does not make an all-out effort - his own political future will not look promising.

As for the South, regional pride plus the prospect of a united party should go a long way. Gov. George Wallace,, in his dignified speech calling on his delegates to vote for Carter just after the Ohio primary, surely did a lot to restore Alabama to the Democratic column. Georgia, with some conspicuous holdouts, is bursting with pride over the native son, the peanut farmer from Plains. Momentum, a word that kept cropping up in Carter's primary campaign, could mean a lot in a region so long turned off from the Democratic party

As that ancient political adage goes you pays your money and you takes your choice. Money is not likely to be a problem in either party this time. There will be a lot of double givers. That is to say, those who split their contributions, wanting to make sure that, whoever the man to occupy the White House for the coming four years, he will have at least a pledge of their good intentions. This time, if the campaign financing law can be circumvented without the consequences visited out of 1972 on so many corporations, it will be more than ever a

Tourist attraction promotion scheduled

COLUMBUS — Bringing tourist dollars to central Ohio is the goal of the newly-organized Central Ohio Tourist Council Leatherlips Region, which will work with the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development's Office of Travel and Tourism to publicize attractions in the eightcounty area.

The Leatherlips Region designates one of nine multi-county groupings in a new regional approach to tourism promotion in Ohio. It encompasses Union, Madison, Fayette, Pickaway, Franklin, Deleware, Licking and Fairfield counties.

Susan Edwards, public relations director of the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts and chairman of the council, has announced appointment of three sales representatives. They are John Feenstra of Marysville, Don Moffat of Columbus and Sharon Nichols of Athens. They will contract major attractions and businesses that benefit from tourism. Feenstra is a retired newspaper circulation manager. Moffat, a high school English teacher and former radio ombudsman, and Ms. Nichols a boutique and beauty salon owner. She will be contacting tourist attractions and businesses in Fayette

Council spokesmen will utilize a slide presentation on economic benefits of tourism prepared by the Office of Travel and Tourism. A brochure about attractions, services and accommodations in the Leatherlips Region will be distributed by the council in late July. Co-chairman for the brochure projects are Eileen

Representative To Congress 6th District, Ohio

The 94th Congress is painfully consistent where raising the ceiling on the national debt is concerned. It is the kind of consistency that is edging this nation toward bankruptcy.

This week's House vote to increase the temporary debt ceiling marked the fifth time in less than a year and a half that this Congress has raised the limit.

If one can find any reason for optimism in the House action, which I opposed, it might be that the 184-177 vote was fairly close on the matter.

The legislation approved would increase the temporary debt ceiling from $627 billion to $700 billion over the next 15 months. That means the Federal Government will be able to borrow an additional $73 billion through September of 1977.

Some congressional spenders contend that the debt ceiling should be raised to accelerate economic recovery. However, that is a short-sighted contention, because taken to its logical and predictable conclusion, deficit spending and jacking up the public debt will damage, if not destroy the recovery process

The increase, if finally approved by the Senate and signed into law by the President, will allow the Federal Government to go once again into the private marketplace and borrow funds that would have otherwise been used for economic growth in the private sector. Those funds are needed for capital expansion and the creation of permanent and satisfying jobs for the nation's unemployed.

When private industry cannot get the money it needs to grow and expand, job opportunities evaporate, money gets tight, interest rates go up, and inflation grips the economy.

The trend has been to increase the debt ceiling since 1960, but the rate of increase has been accelerating in the last few years. For example, at the end of Fiscal Year 1960, the national debt was not quite $297 billion, less than half of what it is today.

It is easy to see that far too many members of the Ninety-fourth Congress are giving lip-service to reduced spending, when one considers that although it took 194 years to amass an accumulated debt of around $400 billion, this Congress alone proposes to add over $200 billion to that debt.

This kind of government activity hits the American taxpayer hard. Occasionally, I hear someone say, "Why worry about the size of the national debt-after all, we owe it to ourselves.'

Such an observation overlooks the fact that the phenomenal amount of interest to be paid on the debt of the Federal Government-and it must be paid-comes from taxes and from additional borrowing.

Given the obviously damaging effect on the economy produced by govern-ment borrowing, consider, if you will, the problem of taxes.

This year, government at all levels will take more than 42 per cent of total personal income in the United States.

Over 42 cents out of every dollar will go to government through income taxes, sales taxes, real estate taxes, gas taxes, and the like.

Feeding on a steady diet of tax dollars, government at all levels is simply growing bigger and hungrier by the day. Congress has yet to do anything to curb that appetite.

The cost of living is inescapably related to the inflation produced by the kind of uncontrolled deficit spending and borrowing that is made possible through the overworked congressional gimmick of raising the temporary ceiling on the public debt.

In response to a questionnaire I recently mailed to my Sixth District constituents, 84 per cent said they favored a reduction in federal spending, even if it might decrease programs personally favored.

People are saying the same thing all across the nation. As we mark 200 years of representative government, it is time that more members of Congress started listening.

URW slated to resume strike talks

CLEVELAND (AP)-Striking United Rubber Workers are scheduled to resume their talks with Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. in Cleveland Monday at 2 p.m., in the ongoing effort to end the 64-day-old dispute. The union hopes a settlement with Firestone will pave the way for reconciliation with the other members of the Big Four of the rubber industry-Goodrich, Goodyear, and Uniroyal.

The two main issues that remain unresolved are wage demands and an unlimited cost-of-living increase.

As a result of the strike, many nontire workers for the Big Four are being laid off. The four companies said Friday that 3,650 nonstriking employes will be laid off in textile and synthetic rubber operations.

Goodyear said it has closed textile plants in Cartersvile and Cedartown, Ga., and Scottsboro and Decatur, Ala. as well as the textile portion of its Rockmore, Ga. site. About 2,300 workers will be idled. Goodrich and Firestone announced the layoff of 1,300 textile workers in four plants. Uniroyal said it will lay off

In a show of support for the strike, about 2,000 workers and their families marched through the streets of downtown Akron Friday. A spokesman for the URW said that morale was 'extremely high.'

In a related development, workers for the Mansfield Tire and Rubber Co. have reported back to work following the resolution of a production quota problem. Workers have agreed to a figure of 65 pounds per man per hour. The firm says production had dropped off to under 55 pounds per hour.

The remainder of the contract will be negotiated while the workers are back

An automobile stolen from a Washington C.H. auto dealership was recovered Saturday night by Fayette County sheriff's deputies. Deputies also arrested two Washington C.H. men over the weekend on possession of marijuana charges.

Parked in the rear of the Ron Farmer's Auto Supermarket lot, a 1972, model Chrysler was repotedly stolen between 6 and 10:51 p.m. Saturday.

Sheriff's deputies said that the thief had apparently broken into the body shop to gain the keys to the car, and had then taken a license plate from another parked car, and attached it to the Chrysler.

The car was found by sheriff's deputies on the Lewis Road at 11:04 p.m. Saturday. The driver, who had fled the scene, had reportedly lost control of the car about a mile west of Ohio 38, and had driven off the right side of the road.

Fence belonging to Paul A. Hays, 740 E. Temple St., was damaged in the accident. The car was moderately damaged. Agents from the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Identification assisted sheriff's deputies in the investigation.

While on routine patrol, Sheriff's Deputy D.L. Cox was in the process of checking a vehicle for failure to display valid license plates, when he discovered less than 100 grams of marijuana in the vehicle.

The car was located along the Dickey Road, just east of Bloomingburg, and two Washington C.H. men were charged with possession of marijuana at 7:36 p.m. Saturday. The two men were Michael R. Knapp, 19, of 524 Fifth St., and Steven L. Southworth, 19, of 314 Forest St.

Five different non-traffic offenses were investigated over the weekend by Washington C.H. police officers.

Pearl M. Bott, 39, of Williamsport, was arrested by Washington C.H. police officers at 4:40 p.m. Sunday, shortly after she had allegedly left Buckeye Mart discount store, without mixed reactions to Sunday's rally. While terming the political jamboree a success because it brought the issues to the public, she was somewhat disappointed in the turnout and the amount of funds raised.

Turnout, funds raised 'disappointing'

Mrs. Allen, 401 E. Elm St., said she was pleased with the number of signers of petitions for repeal of the city income tax and for a change to a mayor form of government. Held in the Mahan Building on the jamboree attracted more than 800 persons, according to Mrs. Allen's estimate. The purpose of the rally, in part, was to raise money for the defense of five persons arrested in connection with the circulation of petitions against the former city income tax. The promoters also sought to generate support for continuing efforts to repeal the present city income tax and to revamp city government.

John E. Rhoads, former Washington H. City Council chairman, and William F. Stolzenburg, one of the five defendants in the petition arrests, addressed those in attendance. Rhaods had instigated a drive in 1966 seeking to bring a mayor form of government to the city. He said that although he played no part in the circulation of such petitions in 1975, he supports the principle of electing as many officials as possible. Rhoads cited "irregularities" which have occurred during the past several years as just cause for a "house cleaning." He said severence pay to the former city manager was approved 'after the fact," sewer lines were installed on private property with city equipment, and there had been frequent misappropriation of money from the general bond retirement fund.

Although he stressed that no money had been taken for personal use, he felt it had been improperly used to subsidize other funds.

The former council member said he supported the efforts to bring a mayor form of government to Washington C. H. because it would be more responsive to the citizens wishes. A city manager, he said, needs only the support of a majority of council to retain his job; a mayor needs the support of the majority of city residents.

When discussing his address Monday morning, Rhoads stressed that he had no qualms with the present city manager, George Shapter, who he helped select for the position.

A REQUEST for investigation by the state attorney general of the irregularities cited by Rhoads is being contemplated by the organizers of the jambor, , and Rhoads said he would sign a statement outlining his charges if asked to do so by the committee.

Stolzenburg presented his version of the facts surrounding his arrest for interferring with a Washington C.H. firemen earlier this month. In addition to election fraud charges, Stolzenburg faces charges of interferring and aggravated menacing in connection with an incident at his home.

He said he had not attacked firemen who attempted to douse a fire for his "cookout." He state that he and others were sprayed with water when "Mr. Reed overstepped his authority a little

Phil Tatman, 437 Warren Ave., a longtime Council critic, said he had to renounce the post when Council saw fit to enforce a rule requiring 24-hour written notice before hearing from taxpayers. He indicated this type of action was typical of the dicatorial type of governing to which Washington C. H. residents have been subjected.

Four of the five persons arrested for election fraud attended the meeting. They were Stolzenburg, 54, and his wife Dorothy, 35, of 804 Maple St., Russell Pollard, 42, of 1335 Washington Ave., and the Rev. C. H. Detty, 426 Sixth St.

Harold Gault, 69, of 508 Gibbs Ave., has been in poor health and was unable to attend. Mrs. Allen said "several hundred" dollars were raised for the defense of the five defendants, but exact figures were not yet available.

She also estimated that nearly 500 signatures were obtained on petitions for repeal of the income tax. A somewhat smaller number signed petitions for the mayor form of

The battalions lined up on the four sides of the five-mile square which formed Hinckley Township. On the north were men from Cleveland, Newbury, and Royalton. When the battalions finally reached the center of Hinckley Township, they formed a circle with a half-mile radius. From this point, only the expert shooters were permitted to advance. Instructions were to fire only toward the midpoint. When the gunfire began, turkeys flew out, but the rest of the game fled to the interior of the circle. The trap was perfect.

The "enemy dead" included 17 wolves, 21 bears, and 300 deer — turkeys, foxes, and raccoons not counted. The settlers themselves sustained only one injury, a buckshot wound described as "painful but not

Childhood dream comes true for Portsmouth contestant

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) - "I wanted to be Miss America since I was, oh, about 7, I guess," said Janice Elaine Cooley of Portsmouth. She is a step closer now, after being chosen as Miss Ohio for 1977.

The third time proved the charm for Miss Cooley. In 1974, she was Miss Portsmouth and was one of the 10 finalists for the Miss Ohio title. The following year, she was Miss Miami Valley, won the Miss Ohio talent competition and was third runnerup for the crown.

For her third try, Saturday night, she asked her friends from Portsmouth not to make a fuss. So, only her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Cooley, were in the audience when the 20-year-old beauty was crowned by Susan Kay Banks, Miss Ohio 1976.

The 5-foot-41/2 brunette, a concert pianist entered as Miss Ohio Valley, won a $1,500 scholarship and will represent Ohio in the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City in the fall.

The first runnerup in the event was Susan Ynonne Perkins, 21, of Middletown, Miss Miami University, a college studying for a degree in music. Her interests include reading, horseback riding, dancing and writing. Miss Cooley says the talent competition of past years can't be compared with this year's.

Other runnersup, in order, were Susan Marie Swies, 21, of Gahanna, Miss Mid-Ohio, a dancer; Sherry Lynnette Patrick, 17, of Centerville, Miss Miami Valley, a dancer, and Taryn Lee Hunter, 19, of Columbus, Miss Southwestern Ohio, a vocalist.

'It's a different age bracket," she said. "The girls are younger, and you really can't compare talents. There are so many diverse talents."

She won the crown this year based on a selection by a panel of five judges: Judy Swanson, a director of the Miss Illinois Pageant; Mary Lou Lewis, former members of the staff of the Miss Wisconsin Pageant and judge in 1973 of the Miss Colorado Pageant; Dr. Glenn E. Whitesides, president of Newberry College in Newberry, S.C.; Eddie Foy III, an independent casting director, and Richard J. Larson, an attorney from Illinois.

The judges were instructed to pick the "ideal American girl."

Services for former attorney general set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Memorial services are scheduled today for former Ohio Atty. Gen. Hugh S. Jenkins, 73, who died Friday in a Columbus nursing home. After holding several state administrative posts, Jenkins was elected to serve as attorney general from 1944 until 1949, when he returned to private practice. Eight years later he was reappointed to the Board of Tax Appeals and served as chairman for three years. In 1963, Jenkins was named assistant state auditor and held that post until his retirement in 1969.

Before being elected attorney general, the Youngstown native worked in the Mahoning County prosecutors office. He was originally appointed to the tax appeals board in Jenkins was made administrator of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation in 1943, and resigned to seek the attorney general's office.

ATTENTION FARMERS

A significant increase of corn yield was proven in Fayette County, last year, with the use of Dinitro. This chemical was used as a growth stimulant on 3,000 acres of test plots in our immediate area. Six years of testing by Purdue University indicates 5 per cent to 10 per cent increase in yield can be achieved with this growth stimulant, when applied at the right time. As a result, an estimated 50,000 acres in 1974 and 500,000 acres in 1975 were treated by Indiana farmers. The price is so low, $2.95 an acre including chemical and application, that you shouldn't miss this money making opportunity. Call us for information on how to determine the proper time to treat your corn. (We estimate June 21 to July 4 will be the time to start this year.)

NOTE: Treated corn should not be used for grazing or silage.

Phillies pound Reds

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds may be the defending World Champions, but they get no respect from the Philadelphia

The Phillies have shown this season that they can play ball with the Reds in fact, they've shown that they can play it better.

"Nothing they do surprises me," said Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark after his team beat the Reds 6-1 Sunday and won the deciding match of a threegame series.

The victory gave the National League East leaders a 4-2 edge so far in six games with Sparky Anderson's club. In a series earlier, the Phillies also won the set, two games to one.

The Phillies out-hit, out-pitched and out-fielded Cincinnati and reliever Ron Reed seemed to personify all their elan. Reed came into the game with the bases loaded, none out and the Phillies leading 4-1 in the sixth inning. The relief pitcher then struck out Tony Perez and Johnny Bench, both dangerous hitters, and got pinch-hitter

Ken Griffey on a weak pop fly.
In the other National League games, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Houston Astros 9-5 in the opener of a doubleheader before the nightcap was rained out; the San Francisco Giants routed the New York Mets 9-2; the Montreal Expos edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-4; the San Diego Padres nipped the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4, and the Atlanta Braves blanked the Chicago Cubs 5-0.

After Reed cut the Reds down in the sixth, Ollie Brown did the same in the seventh. Brown stymied a Cincinnati rally with a perfect throw from right field. Doug Flynn singled to open the Reds' seventh and moved to second on base hit by Dan Driessen. When Flynn atempted to score on Pete Rose's single to right, Brown nailed him at

While Reed was knocking the Reds out of the game with his throwing and Brown with his fielding, starting Philadelphia pitcher Jim Kaat, 7-2, was clubbing them with his bat. He singled during a three-run second inning, helping the Phillies to all the runs they

Astros 9, Pirates 5

Wilbur Howard's pinch single drove in the go-ahead run as Houston scored five times in the eighth off relief pitcher

Bob Moose and beat Pittsburgh.

Tom Griffin pitched four hitless innings of relief for the Astros, raising his record to 5-1. A chilly drizzle fell throughout the game before the scheduled nightcap was washed out. Play was halted intermittently for the grounds crew to spread sawdust around home plate and the bases.

Giants 9, Mets 2 Ed Halicki, 5-10, knocked in three runs with two singles and, aided by late relief help from Randy Moffitt, pitched San Francisco past New York.

The Giants opened the game with a five-run, first-inning burst during which they produced five hits. The key blows were Derrel Thomas' run-scoring double, Ken Reitz' two-run single and Halicki's two-run single off New York left-hander Jon Matlack, 8-2.

Expos 5, Dodgers 4

Pete Mackanin's three-run homer capped a five-run outburst in the sixth inning that gave Montreal its victory over Los Angeles.

Mackanin, who delivered a gamewinning single in Montreal's 2-1 victory over Los Angeles Saturday, smashed a 2-0 pitch from loser Burt Hooton into the left field bleachers for his fifth homer of the season.

Padres 5, Cardinals 4

Johnny Grubb's run-scoring double snapped a tie in the ninth inning and lifted San Diego over St. Louis. Grubb's hit came off former Padres hurler Bill Grief, 1-4, after the Cardinals had battled back and tied the score with two runs an inning earlier.

Grief retired the Padres' Fred Kendall before pinch-hitter Gene Locklear stroked a single to left. Grubb, who earlier contributed a tworun single in a three-run Padres fourth inning, then delivered a towering drive to left center that Bake McBride narrowly missed catching.

Braves 5, Cubs 0

Darrell Chaney drove in three runs with a pair of doubles, Rowland Office hit in his 25th straight game and righthander Dick Ruthven hurled a fourhitter, leading Atlanta over Chicago.

Ruthven, 8-6, never permitted a runner past second base as the Braves won their third game from the Cubs in Temperamental Tom Weiskopf and gangling Al Geiberger made plucky stabs at winning but fell short after firing rounds of 68 and 69, respectively, for 279. For the second year in a row, cherub-faced John Mahaffey saw the prize wrenched from his grasp as he finished bogey-bogey-bogey for a 73 that tied him at 280 with Butch Baird, an outsider wearing thick glasses and a widebrimmed plantation hat.

"I got tired, I ran out of gas," said Mahaffey, who led until he was tied at the 70th hole of the 72-hole test. "But I will win the Open one day. You can print that."

He tied Lou Graham for the title at Medinah, outside Chicago, last year and lost in a playoff because of a tentative attitude on the putting greens. He showed no temerity in shooting rounds of 70-8-69 which gave him the lead after the second and third rounds.

The tall, talented Weiskopf exploded three straight birdies, starting at the 66th hole, but saw his hopes doused at the 215-yard 15th where he tried to recover from an impossible lie and scrambled for a bogey

Finley expected to file $10 million suit against Kuhn

NEW YORK (AP) - Two teams plagued by losing streaks may look forward to a head-to-head confrontation knowing that one of the clubs will immediately begin a winning

That's the situation for baseball and Charles O. Finley, as the Oakland owner was expected to file a multimillion dollar damage suit today or Tuesday against Commissioer Bowie Kuhn and his office.

Finley, who made his fortune in the insurance business, has gambled on the courts before and lost, while baseball, a sport fascinated by statistics, is batting .000 in recent legal tangles.

Neil Papiano, Finley's lawyer, said Sunday from Los Angeles that he would file four or five causes of action seeking damages "in the neighborhood of $10 million" and asking an injunction against Kuhn's order nullifying inley's $3.5 million sale of three star players.

Papiano said the suit would be filed either in a state or federal court in California. "Whichever court we think will give us a quicker hearing," Papiano said.

Finley has been chasing Catfish Hunter in the California courts ever since 1974, when arbitrator Peter Seitz ruled the star pitcher free because Finley breached Hunter's contract. He has lost once but, undaunted, Finley has appealed to a higher court.

Papiano said he expects a decision from the California Court of Appeals

Major League Players Association has been on the winning side of all these decisions, and now faces a dilemma - whether to join forces with Finley, a long-time adversary, or file an independent action against Kuhn.

Tribe outlasts Kansas City

Yanks, O's stretch streak to six

By The Associated Press

The Cleveland Indians and Baltimore Orioles know what a treadmill feels like. The Indians, though, have a chance to do something about it.

The Indians outlasted the Kansas City Royals 11-8 Sunday for their eighth victory in 10 games. During that stretch, however, they've gained exactly one-half game on the New York Yankees, season-long leaders in the American League East.

Meanwhile, the Orioles blanked the Texas Rangers 2-0 for their sixth consecutive triumph, a streak that has seen them only stay even with the Yankees, who ran their own winning string to six games with a 6-3 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

In other AL games, the Boston Red Sox nipped the California Angels 4-3 in

Q. — I understand it is possible to use dry ice in the removal of resilient floor tiles. Can you tell me how this is done?

A. - Yes, but first a word of caution. The dry ice must be handled very carefully. Have the dealer where you purchase it tell you how this should be done. The dry ice is placed into a wooden frame which is set on the tile and left there a few minutes. Using a hammer, chip out the tile, then move the frame and repeat the operation as many times as is needed. There are several other methods of removing floor tiles. Probably the safest - although it requires the most elbow seams of two adjoining tiles and force it downward and slightly sideways until one of

North East West South Pass Dble

Opening lead - six of diamonds.

If you don't believe in fairy tales, you won't believe this story, but I have it on good authority that this deal was played in the early days of contract bridge more specifically, in 1927.

South bid one spade. Today we'd start with one club, but in those days the idea of bidding the suit under the singleton had not yet been developed.

West bid two hearts, a hairraising venture by present standards, but people were more sporting in the 20's. North fearlessly joined the fray with three diamonds, but at least he had South's opening bid to lean

South was an imaginative player who realized he probably couldn't develop many diamond tricks in notrump, so he splashed right into four hearts even though West had bid the suit. He thought he'd score enough high-card tricks in the side suits and enough low-card tricks in trumps to land ten of

West doubled - he couldn't accept this insult lying down and led a diamond. South had no trouble making the contract; it was like taking candy from a baby. He cashed the A-K of diamonds, discarding a club, and led a club to the king, which lost to the ace.

Back came the ten of clubs. South took the queen, cashed the A-K of spades, ruffed a spade in dummy, then ruffed a diamond in his hand.

By this time South had won seven of the first eight tricks. He still had the A-Q-10 of hearts, a spade and a club. West had the K-J-9-8-5 of trumps, but they had gradually been losing their attraction.

Declarer now led a spade, forcing West to ruff and return a trump. South won with the ten and exited with a club. Again West ruffed and returned a trump, so South made four hearts doubled.

Them was the days!

Housing starts show increase

By JOHN CUNNIFF

AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) - It is difficult to become enthusiastic about the slight increase in housing starts during April since it still brings the annual rate to only 1.4 million units, far below the nation's needs.

Still, any increase at all in this measure of our national well being does contain an iota of encouragement, because the price obstacles - down payment, taxes, interest among them are formidable.

The cost of a new single-family house is about twice what it was a decade ago. Interest rates are about 50 per cent higher, taxes 70 per cent, utility bills 80 per cent. Over-all, costs have risen far more than incomes.

Transportation costs have added to the bill. Not only does gasoline for the car cost more, but so does public transportation into the city from the more distant sites to which buyers and builders have fled in search of economies.

But the pressure of prices is producing one result that might prove rewarding for both the individual buyer and communities in general.

It is this: Since nobody seems to have an answer to the problem of rising housing costs except to build the product smaller and otherwise less adequately than before, many couples are forced to reconsider existing housing.

Much of this housing is substantial but often it is also run down. Much of it is in communities from which people once used to think they graduated as their incomes rose. Now it is being viewed differently.

Adding to its appeal is that such housing offers conveniences that often take years to develop in new communities, such as existing churches, schools, stores, public transportation, entertainment.

Billions of dollars of such infrastructure lies almost abandoned in some cities as people flee to the suburbs or to smaller towns, even though it remains essentially sound.

The era of the throwaway house therefore could gradually blend into another era, that of the rediscovered older house.

While builders of new homes were going bankrupt in 1975, many real estate salesmen were reporting record high sales because of existing-home sales. Some mortgage lenders had one of their biggest years ever, for the same reason.

Owners of some existing houses also reconsidered and changed their plans

Expenditures for residential additions and alterations on owneroccupied, single-family properties averaged less than $6 billion a year from 1971 to 1973, but jumped to $6.4 billion in 1974 and $8.5 billion in 1975.

Some of this increase can be attributed to inflation, but not all. The 31 per cent rise during 1975 suggests that many home owners renovated rather than ran, decided to hold on rather than throw away.

How far this latest tendency will go and how long it will last is difficult to forecast, because it exists within a larger and perhaps more powerful trend, that of discarding rather than renovating older homes.

Auxiliary deputy completes course

A Fayette County man recently achieved special distinctions upon his completion of a law officer training course conducted in Circleville by the Ohio Peace Officers Training Council.

According to the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, George E. Hellenthal, 43, of 690 Staunton-Jasper Road, has completed the 280 classroom hour course required of potential auxiliary sheriff's deputy. Hellenthal had a 100 per cent attendance record, and was elected president of his class.

A total of 22 other sheriff's deputy and auxiliary candidates attended the program hosted by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department. The courses took place between 6:30 and 10:30 p.m. four nights per week.

Describing the course as "long and rough," Hellenthal said that there were many times when he would not get home until 12 midnight. On occassion he would additionally assist Fayette County sheriff's deputies during an auto investigation.

Hellenthal said that his venture into the law enforcement field was the result of a desire to help the Fayette County community. He said that he has always wanted to be a sheriff's deputy, and thinks highly of the personnel in the Fayette County Sheriff's Department.

Italy to complete election

ROME (AP) — Italy completes a second day of nationwide voting today and begins counting the ballots that will determine whether the Communist party gets a place in the government of this member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

With Sunday's weather perfect for the beach, 76.3 per cent of the 40.4 million eligible voters went to the polls, compared with 78.9 per cent during the first day of the 1972 national election The rest had until 2 p.m. (8 a.m. EDT) to vote or run the risk of being fined. But although voting is compulsory, no action against delinquents is likely.

The campaign was punctuated with violence, including the assassination of a district attorney in Genoa and three other deaths. But the most serious incidents Sunday were a fire at one polling place caused by short circuit and an 18-year-year-old policeman accidentially shooting himself in the

The Communists, riding a crescendo of dissatisfaction with the grave economic situation and charges of corruption in government, hoped to bridge the gap of two percentage points that separated them from the ruling Christian Democrats in nationwide regional elections last year.

The Communists won a third of the votes then, and the combined vote of the Communists, Socialists and other leftists was 47 per cent. The Socialists dropped out of the center-left coalition government and demanded a role in the

Two weekend fires probed

An air compressor fire and a trash burning summoned Washington C.H. firemen over the weekend.

An air compressor in a garage belonging to Norman Moore Sr., 514 Gregg St., overheated at 3:51 p.m. Sunday. The flames had burned out by the time firemen arrived. They doused the smoldering machine with carbon dioxide. Damage was estimated at

A trash fire on the Robert Michael residence, 225 N. Oakland Ave., was doused with water by firemen at 9:33 p.m. Saturday.

government for the Communists, leaving the Christian Democrats without a majority in the Chamber of Deputies and forcing the national election a year

The Christian Democrats proclaimed the election a referendum between freedom and communism. The Communists said the choice was between continued economic crisis and scandals or a change to the left.

Communist party chief Enrico Berlinguer sought to reassure doubters with pledges of respect for democracy and loyalty to NATO. But the U.S. government and other anti-Communist regimes feared that a Communist victory would endanger Italy's place in NATO and could lead to Communist gains in France.

At stake were 630 seats in the Chamber of Deputies and 315 in the Senate. None of the nine parties was expected to win a majority, and it could be weeks before the forging of the coalition that will become Italy's 35th postwar government.

It was the first national election in which persons 18 to 25 years old were allowed to vote. There are 5.5 million of them, or 13 per cent of the total, and opinion polls indicated the majority of them were oriented to the left.

Women, who outnumber male voters by 1.5 million, were courted by all of the parties with special zeal. They have traditionally given their support to the Christian Democrats, who got 60 per cent of the women's vote in 1972. But the resounding defeat of an attempt by the government party and the Vatican last year to revoke the divorce law was attributed largely to women, and many of them have been angered this year by the Christian Democrats' refusal to agree to a liberal abortion law.
